Media Information

CREDENTIALS: Working press credentials for Carolina home games can be obtained by contacting Rick Brewer in the Sports Information Office. Brewer's mailing address is P.O. Box 2126, Chapel Hill, N.C. 27514.

Requests are screened with care to insure a working pressbox. Children, spouses and pets are not allowed in compliance with the working code of the Football Writers Association of America.

FILING COPY: The Department of Athletics furnishes a number of telephones for writers to use in moving their copy from the pressbox. Anyone desiring a private phone should contact Southern Bell in Chapel Hill.

The Carolina Sports Information Office has one telecopier which will be available for sending copy. An operator's fee of $10 per game will be charged for its use. This fee will cover the cost of a student assistant staying late to send copy. It is strongly suggested, however, that if at all possible, newsmen covering games in Kenan Stadium bring their own telecopiers. This will allow copy to be moved more quickly and will alleviate any deadline problems.

PRESSBOX SERVICES: Programs, flip cards and statistics will be provided before each game. A play-by-play will be distributed at the conclusion of each quarter. Halftime statistics will also be available. Complete team and individual statistics, a scoring summary and coaches' quotes will be provided after the game.

Lunch will be served on the third level of the pressbox before each game and at halftime. Soft drinks and coffee are available on the second level (writers' area) throughout the game.

SIDELINE POLICY: Photographers will not be allowed on the sidelines without an armband. Armbands can be picked up in the pressbox prior to the game. Each photographer must pick up his or her own armband from Monty Woods of the Sports Information Office.

INTERVIEWS: Each Tuesday during the football season Dick Crum will be available to the media at a press luncheon. Television and radio tapes can be done at 11:30 a.m. with the luncheon starting at noon in Kenan Fieldhouse.

Player interviews can be arranged by contacting the Sports Information Office. Generally, interviews will be set up in Kenan Fieldhouse. However, Carolina's actual locker room is closed to the press during the season except on Saturdays following games. Player interviews are not allowed on Fridays preceding games.

RADIO NETWORK AND TV SHOW: Over 60 stations in three states will once again carry the Tar Heel Football Network. The network is operated by Village Companies of Chapel Hill with Jim Heavner as the executive producer. Woody Durham handles the play-by-play.

The Carolina Football Show will be televised across the state of North Carolina each Sunday. Durham serves as emcee for this program which features Crum and highlights of the previous game.

The Prospectus

Despite major losses in the offensive line and along the defensive front, the University of North Carolina could again be one of the best teams in college football in 1983.

Coach Dick Crum's Tar Heels posted an 8-4 record last fall, defeated seventh-ranked Texas in the Sun Bowl and ended the year ranked 13th and 18th in the wire service polls. That marked Carolina's fourth straight Top 20 finish.

Although the Tar Heels return only 12 starters from that team, Crum's program has reached the point where Carolina still figures to be a leading contender for the Atlantic Coast Conference championship and a spot among the nation's elite.

Heading the list of returning players for the Tar Heels are defensive tackle William Fuller, who earned first-team All-America honors last fall; strong safety Willie Harris, an All-ACC selection; offensive tackle Brian Blados, who should challenge for national all-star honors in his senior season; record-setting place-kicker Brooks Barwick; and a pair of standout tailbacks, Tyrone Anthony and Ethan Horton.

However, if the Tar Heels are to again be a strong team, some big holes must be filled. Among the missing players from last year are two-time All-America guard David Drechsler, two-time All-ACC guard Ron Spruill, center Steve McGrew, quarterback Rod Elkins, wide receiver Victor Harrison, All-ACC outside linebacker Mike Wilcher, All-ACC linebacker Chris Ward and three-time All-ACC tailback Kelvin Bryant, the third-leading rusher in school history.

"I still think we can be a pretty good football team," says Crum. "However, we're going to be very young. Because of that we'll spend extra time in the pre-season working to become fundamentally sound. If we can do that, it will certainly give us the framework for a solid football team."

To Crum, a solid team is one which excels on defense and in the kicking game and is balanced offensively. Carolina has the potential to be that kind of team this fall.

The Tar Heels finished second in the nation in total defense last year, giving up just 236.5 yards a game. Carolina was sixth nationally in both pass defense and scoring defense and 12th in rushing defense.

That defensive unit will go into the new season without five starters from last year — Wilcher, Ward, tackle Jack Parry, nose guard Steve Fortson and cornerback Greg Poole. However, Crum still likes the possibilities this defense has.

"I think we have the potential to be a good defensive team," he says. "We have reasonable speed and quickness. We just need to develop some consistency. My biggest concern is at outside linebacker. Wilcher had a great season for us last year and he will be difficult to replace."

Crum doesn't have to worry about Fuller's tackle slot. The 6-4, 250-pound senior from Chesapeake, Va., gives Carolina one of the best players in college football.

Fuller was a first-team All-America selection last year by the Football Writers Association of America and the Football News and was on the Associated Press second team. A two-time All-ACC choice, he was a finalist for the Outland Trophy.

While Fuller has good size and excellent strength, his greatest attributes are probably his amazing quickness and speed. Very few men of his size can move like Fuller.

In two years as a starter, Fuller has made 103 tackles and assisted on 41 others. In addition, he has 15 sacks and 20 other tackles behind the line of scrimmage. Those tackles for losses are a good indication of his quickness.

A major reason for Carolina's fine defensive showing last year was an improved pass rush. Fuller had a lot to do with that. Even when he wasn't sacking the passer, he was forcing hurried throws, making quarterbacks scramble or causing other problems at the line of scrimmage.

"The thing that impresses me most about William is that he's still trying to improve," says Crum. "He's not resting on his laurels. He's one of our hardest workers and has not let success go to his head."

Carolina's other two starters in the defensive interior last fall, Parry and Fortson, are gone. However, these positions should again be in good hands.

Lining up at the tackle spot opposite Fuller will be Brian Johnston, a 6-4, 255-pound junior from Highland, Md. Johnston started the 1982 season as Parry's backup and did an excellent job in that role. But, he had to be switched to center when McGrew was injured at mid-season. He started the last seven games at that spot and played well.

Johnston moved back to defense in the spring and was one of the top performers in the off-season drills. He's a tough competitor with fine quickness. He should team with Fuller to give Carolina an outstanding pair of tackles.

Ronnie Snipes, a 6-1, 240-pound junior from Durham, N.C., will move in at nose guard. He has played quite a bit in the last two seasons as Fortson's backup and was outstanding in the spring work. Behind him is Dennis Barron, a 6-4, 250-pound red-shirt freshman from Wilson, N.C. Barron has all the physical tools to be a fine player, but needs experience.

Depth at the tackle positions will come from a group that includes Bill Bumgarner, a 6-5, 248-pound junior from High Point, N.C.; Wendelle Battle, a 6-5, 263-pound senior from Washington, D.C.; and Mike Johnson, a 6-5, 242-pound red-shirt freshman from Dover, Del. Bumgarner and Battle saw action in reserve roles last fall.

Outside of Fuller, the only other returning starter from last year's front five is outside linebacker Aaron Jackson, a 6-4, 238-pound junior from Washington, D. C. He has outstanding ability, but needs to play with more consistency.

Butch Griffin, a 6-1, 225-pound senior from Williamston, N.C., looms as the most likely replacement for Wilcher at the other outside linebacker post. He has done a good job in a reserve role and on special teams. But, he certainly doesn't have the experience of Wilcher.

Others who could see action at outside linebacker are Jeff Blaylock, who played behind Jackson a year ago, and Bobby Ratliff, who was switched to this position from tailback in the spring. Ron Burton, who showed promise as a freshman last year, is also in the picture here. However, he will be behind the others entering the fall after missing the spring work with an arm injury.

Ward, who was voted the team's most valuable player last year, will be missed at linebacker. Still, Carolina should get excellent play at the two inside linebacker positions.

Bill Sheppard, a 6-1, 224-pound senior from Jacksonville, N.C., was the team's second-leading tackler last season with 53 solo hits and 25 assists. He has good instincts for the football, is an aggressive hitter and has good speed.

Moving into Ward's old spot will be Micah Moon, one of the stars of spring practice. A 6-3, 220-pound junior from Lynch Station, Va., Moon has the ability to be one of the best defenders in the ACC. As a reserve, he was in on 34 tackles last fall. He has everything a great linebacker needs — instincts, acceleration, quickness, speed, strength and good hitting form. Plus, he packs a wallop as a tackler.

Depth will come from junior Pat Cowan and sophomores Carl Carr and Tim Romer. An added boost would be the return to his old form by sophomore Troy Simmons. He showed great potential in the spring of 1982, but missed all of last season and last spring with a knee injury.

Harris heads up a secondary which has good possibilities. The major loss in the defensive backfield was cornerback Greg Poole, an All-ACC selection in 1981. However, he appeared in only six games last fall because of a hamstring injury. While Poole's absence hurt Carolina last year, it did allow some younger players to get experience which could be beneficial this season.

Top performer in the secondary should again be Harris, a 6-2, 190-pound senior from Wilson, N.C., who was one of the biggest surprises of the entire ACC season in 1982. A backup in his first two years at Carolina, Harris gave the Tar Heels sensational play at strong safety, winning all-conference honors. He was the team's third-leading tackler with 51 solo hits and 19 assists and also had seven tackles for losses. He may have been the league's most jarring tackler last fall.

Other returning regulars are cornerback Walter Black, free safety Steve Hendrickson and cornerback Larry James.

Black, a 5-10, 170-pound senior from Kernersville, N.C., is one of the quickest men in college football. He doesn't have great size, but makes up for that with his speed and intelligence. He's a two-year starter and a fine special team player. Although he's expected to open the season at right cornerback, he also has the versatility to play left corner and free safety.

Hendrickson, a 6-0, 173-pound junior from Danville, Va., started every game at free safety last year after being Carolina's nickel back as a freshman. He led the Tar Heels with three interceptions.

James split time with the injured Poole at left cornerback. Considering his inexperience, the 5-10, 178-pound junior from Middletown, Ohio did a good job. He was Carolina's seventh-leading tackler.

Reserve help will come from sophomore Tim Morrison and juniors Barry James, Eddison Bramble and Ed Brown. Cornerbacks Stanley Pugh and Darryl Lucas, who sat out last year with knee injuries, are also possibilities here. If they can fully recover from their injuries, both have the ability to win starting jobs.

Offensively, Carolina's major concern is in the line. Although the Tar Heels return two excellent tackles in Blados and Joe Conwell, the rest of last year's interior is gone. Guards Drechsler and Spruill were three-year starters, while McGrew was a two-year regular at center.

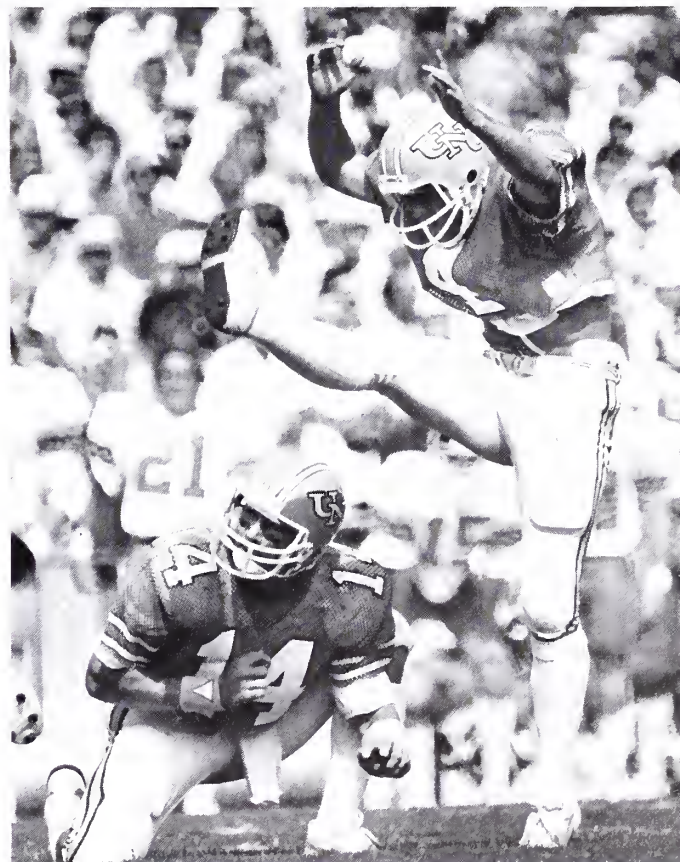

The return of Blados gives the Tar Heels one of the nation's premier linemen. The 6-6, 295-pound senior from Arlington, Va. had a superb junior campaign at left tackle. However, his play was generally overshadowed by that of Drechsler, his runningmate at left guard. Blados graded out in every game a year ago. While strength and size are obvious assets, he also has fine quickness and speed. Carolina coaches rate him one of the best in America.

Conwell, who played defense in his first two seasons in Chapel Hill, had a solid year at right tackle in 1982. A 6-6, 265-pound senior from Bala Cynwyd, Pa., he could challenge for All-ACC honors despite missing most of spring practice with a shoulder injury. He is expected to be 100 percent this fall.

Moving into Drechsler's old left guard position will be Greg Naron, a 6-4, 261-pound junior from Pleasant Garden, N.C. Naron got considerable playing time last year because of injuries to Drechsler and Spruill. In fact, he started the last three games and did a good job. He has the potential to be another in a long line of standout guards at Carolina.

Willy Austin, a 6-5, 260-pound junior from Hudson, N.C., looms as the likely replacement for Spruill at right guard. He has good physical tools, but lacks game experience.

The center will probably be either Harris Barton or Brian Donnalley. Neither has ever snapped a ball in a varsity game.

Brooks Barwick made 20 of 23 field goals in '82.

Barton is a 6-5, 255-pound red-shirt freshman from Atlanta, Ga., while Donnalley is a 6-5, 235-pound sophomore from Raleigh, N.C.

Backup help in the line will come from a group which includes juniors Bobby Pope and Bill Lawson, senior Kevin Wilson and red-shirt freshmen Bill Viggers, C. A. Brooks and Pat Sheehan. Pope and Lawson missed the spring work with injuries.

Despite the loss of Bryant and Elkins, the Tar Heel backfield should still be a good one. Bryant rushed for over 1,000 yards for the third straight season last fall, but was hampered by a bad ankle much of the year. That allowed Anthony and Horton to get extra playing time. A knee injury suffered by Elkins pushed Scott Stankavage into a starting quarterback role for six regular-season games and the Sun Bowl. With fullbacks Eddie Colson and James Jones returning, Carolina has good experience at all the backfield positions.

Running the attack will be Stankavage, a 6-1, 197-pound senior from Furlong, Pa. Last season he completed 78 of 158 passes for 1,124 yards and 11 touchdowns. He tied a school record with four TD passes in one game against N.C. State. With Stankavage and Elkins splitting time at quarterback, the Tar Heels set a school single-season passing record with 1,887 yards.

"Scott is now a very experienced quarterback," says Crum. "He has improved every year he has been here. One of the toughest things on him last year was playing well and then being taken out of the lineup when Rod got healthy.

"He has a good grasp of our offense. He knows the way we think. Because of that, he's able to give us something extra on the field. I'm expecting him to have a fine senior season."

A possible problem is that Stankavage is Carolina's only experienced quarterback. Backup Kevin Anthony had a fine spring, but he has never played in a college game. He's a 6-2, 184-pound red-shirt freshman from Decatur, Ga. He has good ability, but has simply never been under fire. Behind him are walk-ons Rob Patton and Wes Sweetser and transfer Tommy Barnhardt.

Crum doesn't have to worry about experience at tailback. He has two excellent performers in Anthony and Horton. Both have the ability to challenge for all-conference honors.

Anthony, a 6-1, 203-pound senior from Pfafftown, N.C., has been Carolina's second-leading rusher for the past two seasons. He had 699 yards as a sophomore and 697 as a junior. He is also a gifted receiver.

Horton was one of the biggest stars in Carolina's Sun Bowl win over Texas last December, rushing for 119 yards in the second half of play. He gained 576 yards during the regular season, including a 201-yard effort against Vanderbilt. A 6-4, 220-pound junior from Kannapolis, N.C., Horton is a former high school quarterback who has made great strides since being switched to tailback in late 1981.

Crum will probably rotate these two runners in and out of the lineup as he did with Bryant and Amos Lawrence in 1980. Having a fresh tailback in the game at all times should make the Tar Heel attack even more dangerous.

Blocking for the tailbacks in Carolina's multiple-I formation will be Colson, a 6-0, 218-pound junior from Jacksonville, N.C. While sharing the fullback job with Jones last year, Colson rushed for 255 yards, averaging 5.2 yards per carry. Always regarded as an outstanding runner, he made great improvement in his blocking during the course of the 1982 season.

Jones is a solid reserve at this spot and should see plenty of action. The 6-0, 216-pound senior from Rocky Mount, N.C.

is a sensational blocker.

Another key blocker in Carolina's offensive scheme is the tight end. In Arnold Franklin, the Tar Heels have one of the best young players in college football at that position.

A heralded high school star, Franklin made steady improvement throughout his freshman season last year. After seeing a great deal of action early as the number one backup, he moved into the starting lineup when Doug Sickels sprained an ankle in the seventh game of the season.

Franklin, a 6-4, 240-pound sophomore from Lincoln Heights, Ohio, is an unusually good blocker, considering his youth. He is also a talented receiver who has the ability to run with the football after he gets it.

Playing behind him will be another fine receiver — Dave Truitt, a 6-5, 215-pound sophomore from Gaithersburg, Md. He saw extensive action in the spring while Franklin was sidelined with a thigh bruise and was quite impressive.

Carolina's wide receivers are expected to be Earl Winfield at split end and Mark Smith at flanker. Winfield is a 6-1, 188-pound sophomore from Dinwiddie, Va. and Smith is a 6-0, 180-pound senior from Fayetteville, N.C.

Winfield did an excellent job late in the 1982 season. Smith has started for most of the past two years. Both have the physical tools to give the Tar Heels outstanding play at these spots.

Also in the picture here are red-shirt freshman Eric Streater and sophomore Larry Griffin. Griffin, who did a good job in 1981, missed all of last fall with a leg injury.

Despite the losses on offense, Crum thinks this unit does have possibilities.

"We were inconsistent in the spring," he says, "but that was expected with so many new people in the lineup. Since Conwell missed most of the spring with a shoulder injury, we went through the off-season with four new starters in the line. Still, I think we have the capabilities on offense to be very efficient."

The Tar Heels also have the capability to be quite efficient in the kicking game. Barwick, a senior from Clinton, N.C., made 20 of 23 field goals a year ago and 37 straight extra points. He was seventh in the country in field goals and 11th in scoring. He set school records for field goals in a season, accuracy for a year (87.0 percent) and consecutive field goals made (13 in a row going into 1983).

Also returning are Rob Rogers, who will handle kickoffs and long-range field goals, and punter David Lowe (39.6 last year). Rogers and Barnhardt could challenge for the punting job, while red-shirt freshman Lee Gliarmis will be a backup place-kicker.

A concern is finding a punt return specialist. Poole handled that job extremely well in his time in Chapel Hill. Black did a good job in Poole's absence last season, but Crum would prefer to use him in other phases of special team play.

Smith, Winfield and Horton are the most likely candidates to return kickoffs.

"If we can eliminate some errors in our kicking game, we should be solid there," says Crum. "In fact, we probably placed more emphasis on correcting mistakes than anything else last spring.

"For example, we've got to get rid of the penalties (700 yards) that hurt us so much last year. If we can do that, I think we can be a very competitive football team."

What Crum Says About:

THE DEFENSE

"I think we have the potential for another good defensive team. The return of William Fuller is a great asset. He's in a class by himself at tackle. I think Brian Johnston can be a very good player for us at the other tackle, too.

"My biggest concern is at outside linebacker where we've lost Mike Wilcher. He had a great season for us last year and it will be difficult to replace him. We'll also miss Chris Ward's experience and know-how at inside linebacker. But, I was very pleased with the way Micah Moon played at that spot last spring. He can be a solid player for us. Losing Greg Poole will hurt our secondary. I know he didn't play all that much last year because of his injury, but he was still a stabilizing force for us.

"We'll be young, but I feel we have the people capable of doing the job for us."

WILLIAM FULLER

"He's simply a great all-around player. He's really a pleasure to coach because he takes coaching so well. In fact, the thing that's most impressive about him to me is he's still trying to improve. He's not resting on his laurels. He's a very hard worker who has not let success go to his head.

"I thought he had a great year for us last season even though his statistics weren't as impressive as they were in 1981. Statistics can be misleading because William was a much improved player last fall. Opposing teams paid more attention to him. They took special pains to try to stop him or control him. I think their concern about him helped open things up for some of our other people.

"He was a first-team All-America last year, he's twice been all-league and he's going to be a three-year starter. There aren't many better defensive players in the country than Fuller."

THE OFFENSE

"We're capable of having a very good offense. A lot will depend on the type of play we get from our quarterbacks and wide receivers. They'll determine the validity of our passing game. In the past, we've been somewhat erratic there. I think there have been a lot of different reasons for that. There have been games where we've gotten ahead early, for example, and have not been able to throw because it would appear we were trying to run up the score. However, not working on our passing in those games may have hurt us down the road. Injuries to our quarterbacks have also affected our passing attack. At any rate, we must develop more consistency there.

"As far as our running game is concerned, we're solid at both tailback and fullback. We're inexperienced at right guard and center, but I think we have kids there who can be good players. They need experience and time."

SCOTT STANKAVAGE

"He's an experienced quarterback and a very intelligent person. He has worked hard and matured into a very steady player. He has certainly improved every year he has been here.

"One of the toughest things on him last year was playing well and then having to sit down when Rod got healthy. Those were hard times for him. Now he'll be the number one man from the start of the season and I think that will help him.

"Scott has a good grasp of our offense. He knows the way we think and because of that, he's able to give us something extra on the field. He reads secondaries well and is always alert to what the opposing team is doing.

"Scott has had some big days for us. However, I think one of the things that makes him a good quarterback is that he knows he doesn't have to make the big play himself in order for us to win."

THE TAILBACK SITUATION

"Tyrone (Anthony) and Ethan (Horton) both had big springs. Both have played well in the past and I expect the same thing this fall. I'm not really worried about who starts the game for us at tailback. They're both going to play a great deal.

"Of course, we've had a situation like this in the past where we had two exceptional tailbacks. Amos Lawrence and Kelvin Bryant did a great job alternating at that spot in 1980 and both rushed for 1,000 yards.

"These two aren't like Amos and Kelvin. Those guys were darters. Tyrone and Ethan aren't as flashy, but their style is a good one. They're very disciplined runners and have better speed than you might think. I'll be comfortable with either one in the game.

"We'll probably split their playing time up like we did with Amos and Kelvin. One will start and play until he gets tired. Then he'll come out and the other one will go in until he's tired. Having a fresh tailback in the game like that should make us more efficient offensively."

BRIAN BLADOS

"He's got all the physical tools to be an outstanding offensive lineman. He's a three-year starter who has gotten better every year he's been here. He has played against some very good people and has been successful.

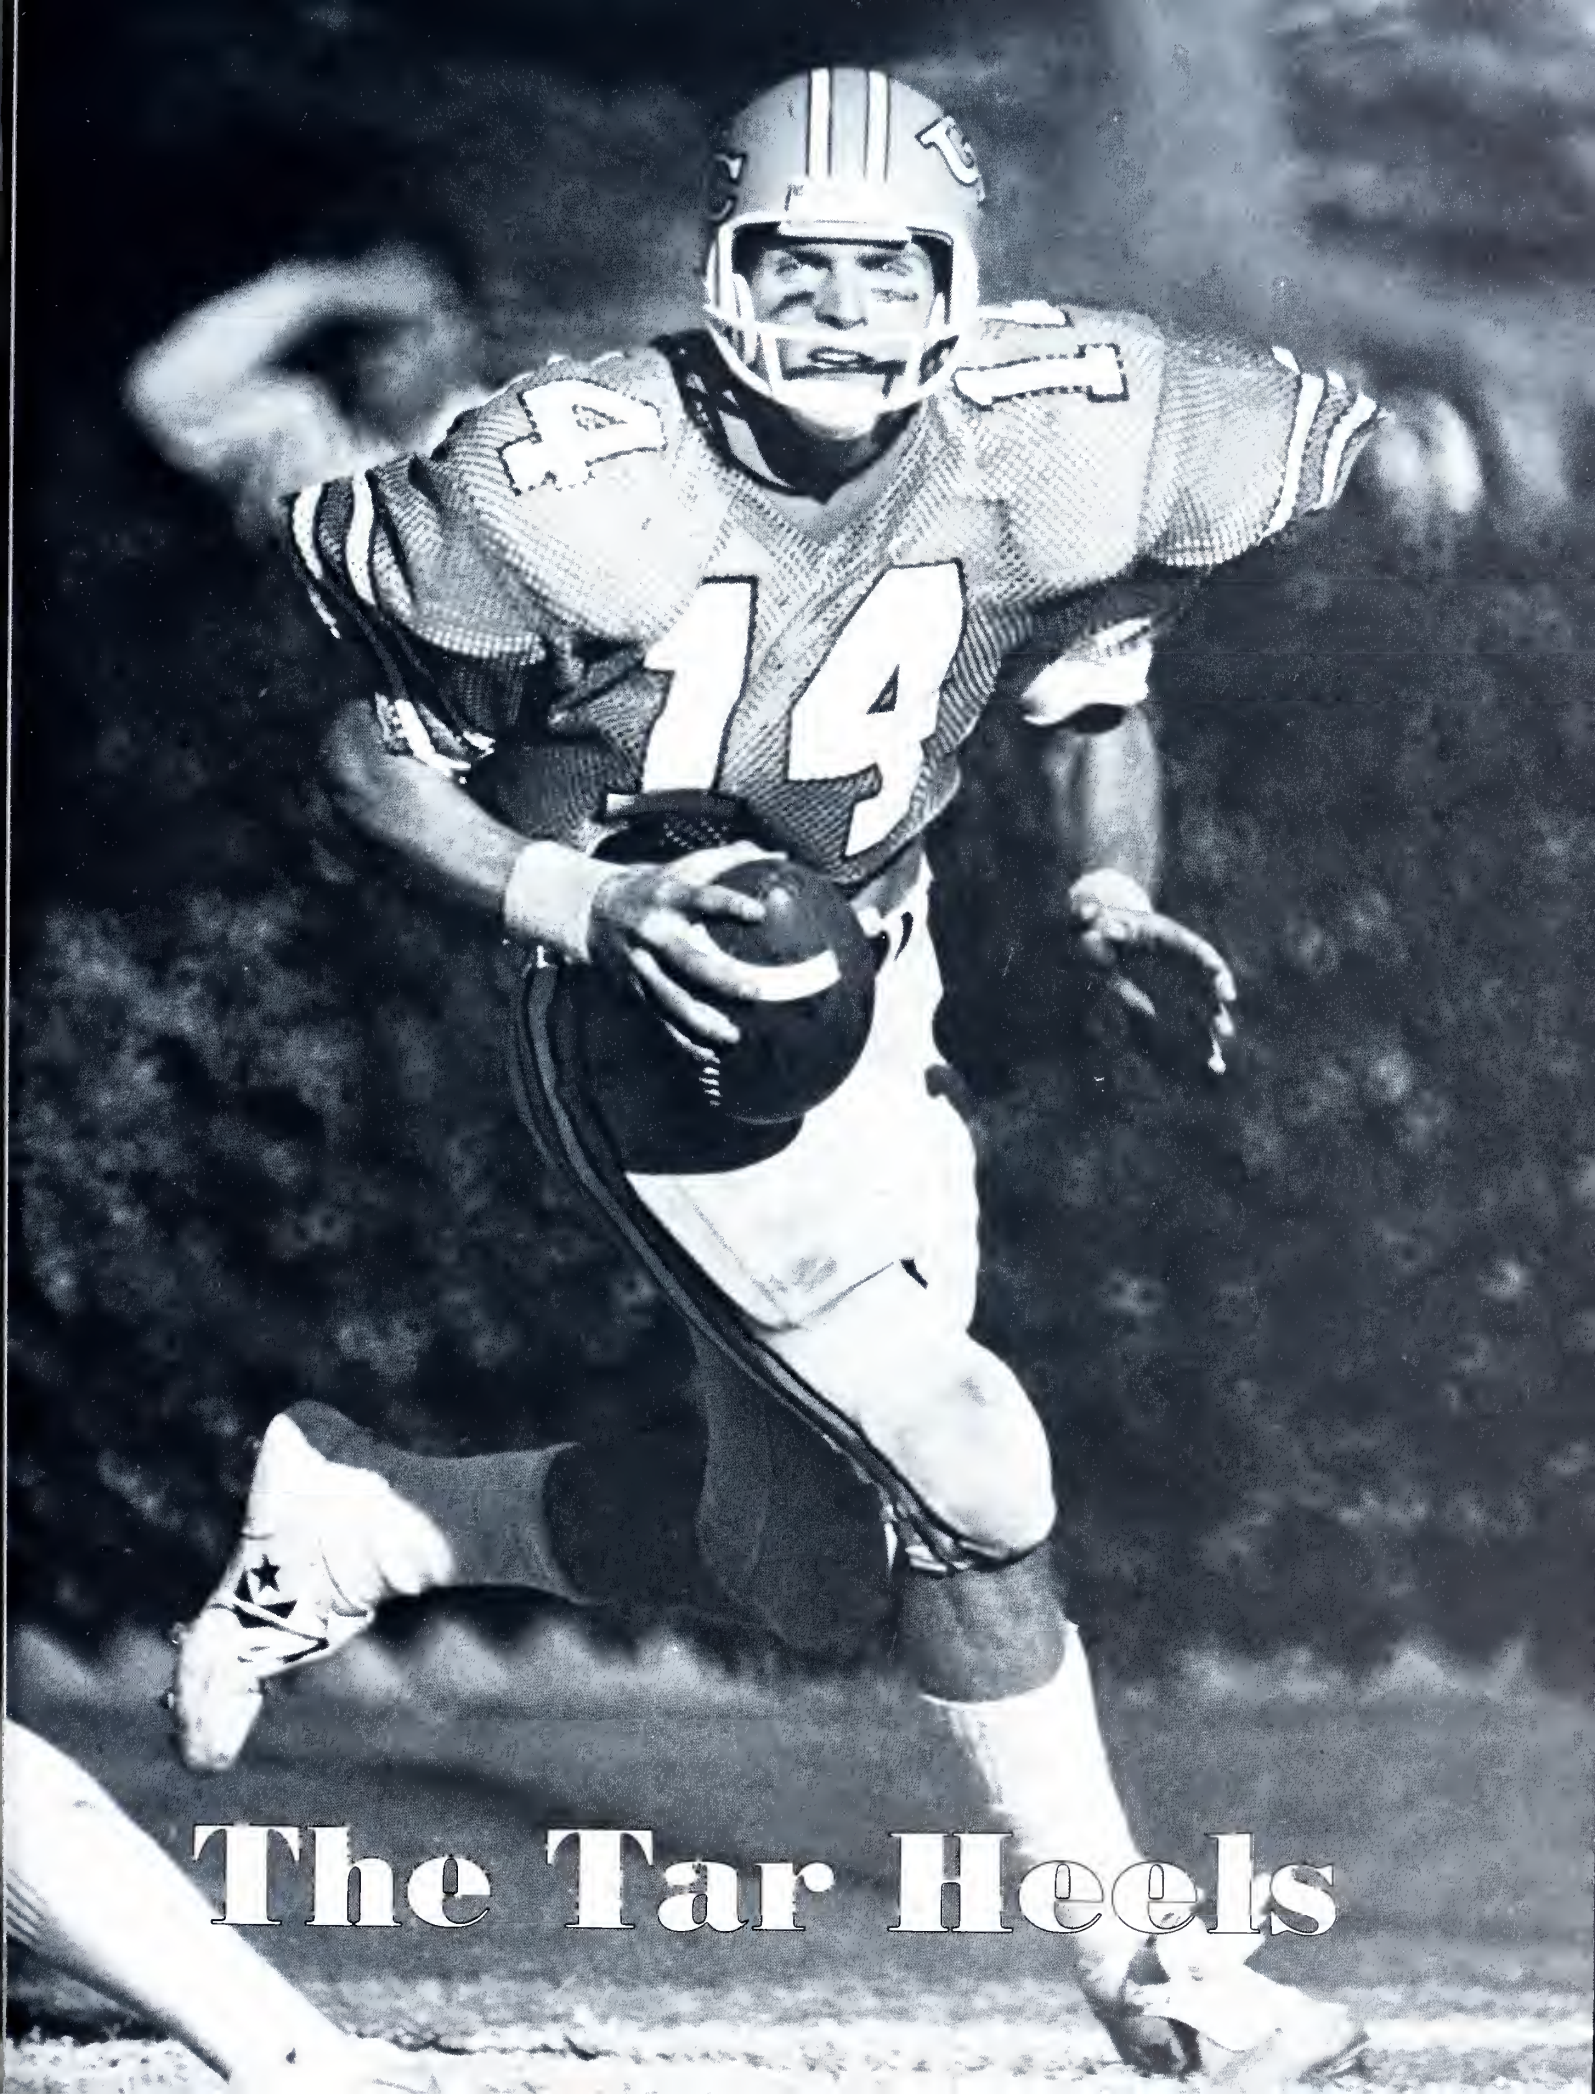

"It's tough to compare offensive linemen. That's especially true for me since the only ones I see are the ones we play against. But knowing what Brian has already accomplished and what he's capable of doing, I think I'm safe in saying he's one of the best linemen in college football. We're certainly expecting a lot out of him this year as both a player and a leader. We're going to be young in the offensive line and his leadership will be very important."

CONCERNS

"Our younger players need playing time and experience. You always have to be concerned about a young player's development even when you think that young person has the necessary talent. I'm especially interested in seeing how our outside linebackers perform in the early games. We need to get good play there if we are to be a solid defensive team.

"We also must work to eliminate the penalties (89 for 700 yards) that hurt us so much last year. Developing consistency will take care of that. But, it may be tough to be a really consistent team early since we'll be so young."

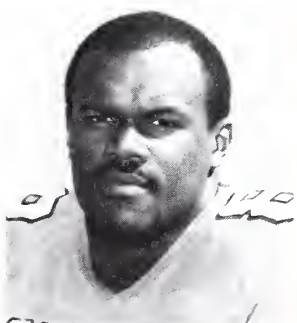

The Tar Heels

Kevin Anthony
Quarterback
6-2, 184, Freshman

Tyrone Anthony
Tailback
6-1, 203, Senior
Pfafftown, N.C.

One of the premier backs in the Atlantic Coast Conference. . . Carolina's second-leading rusher in each of the past two seasons while playing as a backup to Kelvin Bryant. . . Goes into the fall with a good chance to replace Bryant in the starting lineup. . . That starting spot is rated a tossup between Anthony and Ethan Horton. . . Regardless of whether he starts or not, Anthony is sure to see plenty of action. . . Had a great spring. . . Was a much improved ball carrier in the off-season work. . . Showed he could run inside effectively. . . Also showed improvement in his blocking and increased his speed. . . Has all the physical tools. . . Strong, tough and hard-nosed. . . A gifted athlete who is also an excellent technician. . . Does everything the correct way. . . Very good at diagnosing plays and reading his blocks. . . Fine receiver. . . Has excellent hands and runs very good routes. . . Takes pride in his pass-catching. . . Good hands, toughness and speed make him a candidate to return punts this fall. . .

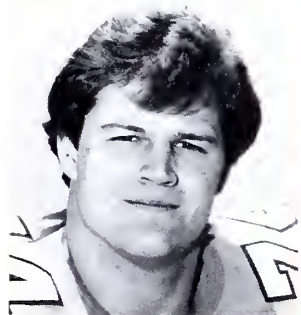

Heads into his senior season with 1,453 yards rushing in his career. . . That makes him the 13th-leading rusher in school history. . . Gained 697 yards last fall. . . Averaged 5.9 yards per rush, best of the Carolina backs. . . Finished ninth in the ACC in rushing. . . Top single-game performance last year was 179 yards on 24 carries at Wake Forest. . . Had a 40-yard touchdown run in that game. . . Also was over 100 yards against Army. . . Had 11 carries that day for 136 yards and two touchdowns. . . One of his TDs against the Cadets came on an 83-yard run. . . That's the sixth-longest run from scrimmage in school history. . . Saw some action at fullback against Clemson and did a good job in that role. . .

Rushed for 699 yards as a sophomore and scored eight touchdowns. . . Finished sixth in the conference in rushing and tied for seventh in scoring. . . Opened that season as Bryant's backup. . . However, moved into a starting role after Bryant was injured in the fourth game of the year. . . Started three games at mid-season against Wake Forest, N.C. State and South Carolina. . . Rushed for 224 yards on 26 carries in his first start against Wake Forest and also scored two touchdowns. . . His 224 yards that day is the most ever by a Carolina sophomore and is the seventh-highest total in school history. . . It's also the most ever gained by a Tar Heel against Wake Forest in a series dating back to 1888. . . Named ACC Player of the Week for his performance in that game. . . Followed that with a 183-yard effort at N.C. State. . . Scored the go-ahead touchdown against the Wolfpack that day in a 21-10 victory. . . Rushed for 52 yards against South Carolina in his third start before being sidelined in the fourth quarter with a groin pull. . . Came back the following week to catch a 20-yard TD pass from Scott Stankavage with 1:20 to play, giving Carolina a 17-10 win at Maryland. . . Rushed three times for 17 yards in the Gator Bowl against Arkansas before being sidelined with a neck injury. . . Had seen only spot action with the varsity as a freshman, gaining just 57 yards on 16 carries. . . Played in all three junior varsity games that year. . . Top performance there came against Massanutten Academy. . . Ran for 229 yards on 23 carries that day and scored four touchdowns. . .

Came to Carolina after a great high school career at West Forsyth. . . Suffered a knee injury in his senior year there, but still gained 887 yards in just over six games and was Forsyth County Player of the Year. . . High school All-America on teams selected by Parade Magazine, Scholastic Coach and the National High School Coaches Association. . . Played in the Shrine Bowl and the East-West All-Star Game. . . Won the Winston-Salem/Forsyth County Board of Education Sports Recognition Award as a senior. . . Majoring in RTVMP. . . Born March 3, 1962.

Willy Austin
Offensive Guard
6-5, 260, Junior
Hudson, N.C.

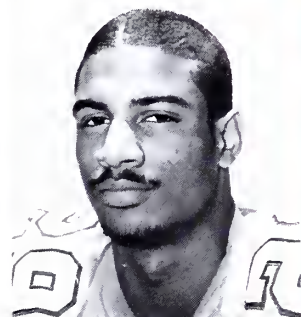

Fine prospect in the offensive line. . . Heads into the fall as the starter at right guard. . . Moved into a starting role at the beginning of spring practice and kept the job with a solid performance in the off-season drills. . . Lettered last year as a backup in the line. . . Saw spot action at both guard and tackle and also played on some special teams. . . Had seen very limited playing time as a freshman. . . A quality person. . . Intelligent young man who has great determination. . . Coachable and a hard worker. . . Always in the right place at the right time. . . Has the size and strength to be a solid offensive lineman. . . Just needs game experience. . . Was a two-way tackle at South Caldwell High School. . . An All-Western 4-A selection both ways. . . Team captain as a senior. . . Started on defense in the Shrine Bowl and also played in the East-West All-Star Game. . . Earned three letters in football and basketball and one in track and baseball. . . Majoring in industrial relations. . . Born October 24, 1962.

Tommy Barnhardt
Punter
6-3, 210, Junior
China Grove, N.C.

Transferred to Carolina in the spring of 1982 from East Carolina and was ineligible last fall because of that. . . Had been the Pirates' punter in 1981 as a freshman. . . Averaged 37.5 yards on 59 punts. . . His longest punt of the year, a 58-yarder, came against Carolina in his second game. . . Averaged 42.9 on nine punts that day. . . Has a great leg. . . Missed a lot of work last fall with a pulled hamstring. . . Got off to a slow start in the spring, but came on to do a good job the last three weeks of the off-season drills. . . Goes into the fall as a backup, but is capable of winning the starting job. . . Also has worked at quarterback and is fourth on the Tar Heel depth chart at that position going into the fall. . . Capable of running the offense if forced into action. . . Gets good velocity on the ball, but needs to work on his accuracy. . . Conscientious and a good athlete. . . Quarterback at South Rowan High. . . Born June 11, 1963.

Walter Bailey
Defensive Back
6-2, 205, Freshman
Hampton, Va.

Enrolled at Carolina last year, but was ineligible to compete. . . Difficult to evaluate because he did not take part in practice sessions. . . Will get a long look this fall. . . Was a three-year regular as a defensive back and as a runningback at Bethel High School. . . Rushed for 1,062 yards as a senior. . . Had 33 career interceptions, including 12 in his senior season. . . Led the Peninsula District in scoring with 78 points. . . Named to the Parade All-America team as an offensive back and to the National High School Coaches Association All-America squad as a safety. . . Selected one of 1981's top five high school players in Virginia by the Roanoke Times. . . Also lettered in track. . . Enrolled in Carolina's general college. . . Born October 31, 1963.

92

Dennis Barron
Nose Guard
6-4, 250, Freshman
Wilson, N.C.

Has the talent to be an outstanding defensive lineman. . . Goes into the fall as Ronnie Snipes' backup at nose guard and is sure to see plenty of action. . . Red-shirted last fall and thus lacks experience. . . However, did a good job in spring practice. . . Missed one week of work with an injury, but still made fine progress. . . Made Snipes a better player with his hard work. . . Biggest nose guard Dick Crum has had in his five years at Carolina. . . A very physical young player. . . Has good strength. . . Has a nose for the football and a good awareness of what's happening on the playing field at all times. . . Fine pass rusher. . . Very conscientious. . . Won Parade All-America honors at Beddingfield High. . . Played defensive tackle, linebacker and tight end there. . . Three times an all-area selection. . . Twice an All-East and all-conference choice. . . Associated Press and Greensboro Daily News all-state pick as a defensive tackle. . . Named one of North Carolina's Top Five in 1981 by the Roanoke Times. . . Won three letters in football and two in track. . . Selected for the East-West All-Star Game. . . Won the starting center spot with a fine showing in spring practice. . . Has the ability to be an outstanding player. . . Red-shirted a year ago and lacks game experience. . . Conscientious young man. . . Aggressive and tough. . . Has good determination. . . Despite his youth, a leader on the field. . . Has good work habits. . . Takes pride in his play. . . Plays hard and practices hard. . . Has never missed a practice at Carolina because of injury. . . Has good size and fine strength. . . However, has never snapped a ball in a game. . . Offensive and defensive tackle at Dunwoody High. . . All-county, all-metro and all-state selection as a senior. . . Named his team's most valuable player that season. . . Won three letters in football, one in basketball and one in wrestling. . . Good student who is enrolled in the general college at Carolina. . . Born April 19, 1964.

Brooks Barwick
Kicking Specialist
5-11, 180, Senior
Clinton, N.C.

Had a phenomenal junior season last year and ranks as one of Carolina's leading all-star candidates. . . Led the Tar Heels in scoring with 97 points. . . That's the most ever by a Carolina kicker and is the fourth-highest single-season total in school history. . . Finished second in the Atlantic Coast Conference and 11th in the nation in scoring. . . Made 37 of 37 extra points and 20 of 23 field goals. . . Led the ACC and was seventh nationally in field goals. . . His 20 field goals set a new school single-season record. . . Hit his first five field goals of the year to give him a school-record streak of nine in a row over two seasons. . . Broke that record by making his last 13 of the year and will carry that streak into the new season. . . His 20 of 23 field goal attempts set a new school accuracy record of 87.0 percent. . . Tied a school record by making four field goals in a single game against Bowling Green. . . Added three PATs in that game for a total of 15 points, the most ever by a Tar Heel kicker in one game. . . Has appeared in 16 regular-season games during his college career and has kicked a field goal in all but the first one. . . That streak of 15 straight games with a field goal is an all-time NCAA record. . . Has also kicked three field goals in two bowl games which aren't included in that streak. . . Booted a 31-yard field goal against Arkansas in the 1981 Gator Bowl although he was playing with an injured knee. . . Had torn cartilage removed after that game. . . Had 24 and 42-yard field goals against Texas in last year's Sun Bowl. . . The 42-yarder equalled his career longest and put the Tar Heels ahead 12-10 in a game they won 26-10. . . Barwick, Ethan Horton and Rob Rogers were named tri-MVPs by CBS in that game. . . Last year Barwick tied two school records concerning PATs. . . He had eight against Army to equal the single-game record and tied the season percentage mark by making all of his 37 attempts. . .

A conventional style kicker, Barwick doesn't have the range of some kicking specialists, but makes up for that with his amazing accuracy. . . Longest field goals of his career were 42-yarders last season against Virginia, Duke and Texas. . . However, his range goes to about 45 yards. . . Has made 26 of 31 field goals in his career for a percentage of 83.9, another school record. . . Enters the 1983 season with a career total of 115 points, the 14th-highest total in school history. . . Will again handle PATs and short-range field goals with Rogers probably taking care of kickoffs and longer field goals. . . Key to Barwick's success may be mental discipline. . . Always calm and cool under fire. . . Last year was successful on field goals from 39, 25, 32, 38, 31, 21, 36, 24, 29, 23, 29, 36, 36, 34, 42, 42, 27, 22, 29 and 32 yards. . . Missed from 45, 27 and 30 yards. . . Made six of eight field goals in 1981. . . Was successful from 33, 35, 35, 22, 26 and 34 yards and missed from 28 and 35. . . Was just used for short field goals that season with Jeff Hayes handling all other kicks. . . Had missed all of the 1980 season because of injuries suffered in a motorcycle accident. . . Kicked for the junior varsity in 1979. . . Good all-around athlete who came to Carolina without a scholarship. . . All-metro as a senior at Episcopal High in Alexandria, Va. . . All-conference as both a junior and senior. . . Also was a pole vaulter there. . . Majoring in industrial relations. . . Born January 29, 1961.

Wendelle Battle
Defensive Tackle
6-5, 263, Senior
Washington, D.C.

Expected to be a valuable reserve in the defensive line. . . Listed behind Brian Johnston at one tackle spot heading into the new season. . . Played both tackles last fall and could be used at either position again this year. . . Had the best spring of all the Carolina defensive linemen. . . Made improvement in all phases of play. . . Has developed into a good pass rusher. . . Quickness and work have been the reasons for that. . . Has always had good size, but has worked hard to improve his quickness, stamina and strength. . . Running and weight-lifting programs have been a big help to him. . . Has good work habits and wants to do well. . . Great attitude. . . Lettered as a reserve in 1981. . . Played in the first nine games that year before breaking an arm prior to the Virginia game. . . Missed the rest of the season and the spring work in 1982. . . Had been a jayvee player in 1980. . . Won two letters in football at Theodore Roosevelt High School. . . Named to the All-Interhigh team as a defensive tackle. . . All-metro and honorable mention All-America. . . As a senior his team won the Interhigh West Division and city championships. . . Won Roosevelt High's outstanding student-athlete award as a senior. . . His major is industrial relations. . . Walter Black
Defensive Back
5-10, 170, Senior
Kernersville, N.C.

Set to begin his third year as a starter in the Tar Heel secondary. . . Should be a team leader this fall and a top contender for All-Atlantic Coast Conference honors. . . Slated to be the starting right cornerback, but could also play left corner or free safety. . . That versatility is a big plus for the Tar Heels. . . Started every game at right corner last fall. . . Was Carolina's eighth-leading tackler with 26 solos and 18 assists. . . Had pass interceptions against Pittsburgh and Maryland. . . His 57-yard interception return against the Terps was the longest of the ACC season and was the 11th longest ever at Carolina. . . The two interceptions pushed his career total to eight, tying him for 13th place among the Tar Heels' all-time interception leaders. . . Also was used as a punt returner early last season because of an injury to Greg Poole. . . Had 13 returns for 105 yards and an 8.1 average. . . Made two big plays to stop Texas' Herkie Walls on reverses in the Sun Bowl. . .

Had seen action at three different positions during 1981. . . Was asked to do more in the secondary than any other player that year. . . Opened the season as the starting free safety. . . Moved to right cornerback after Darryl Lucas was injured at Georgia Tech. . . Split time between those two spots the last half of the season. . . Twice he played two different positions in the same game. . . Used at right corner and free safety against Tech and played both corners at Virginia. . . Had three interceptions in that game against the Cavaliers and was ACC Player of the Week. . . Led the Tar Heels with six interceptions that season. . . His other interceptions came against Miami, N.C. State and Maryland. . . His interception at Maryland came in the Tar Heel end zone with eight seconds to play, preserving a 17-10 victory. . . Played an outstanding all-around game at N.C. State. . . Shadowed first-round NFL draft choice Mike Quick most of the day and also blocked a punt to set up a touchdown. . . Blocked a field goal to set up a TD at Georgia Tech. . . Also had eight solo tackles and five assists at Tech and was named ESPN's National Amateur Athlete of the Week. . . Played on both the varsity and junior varsity as a freshman. . .

Doesn't have great size, but makes up for that by excelling in other areas. . . Has good intelligence and exceptional quickness. . . Has a good understanding of Carolina's defensive concept. . . Has a great attitude and is very coachable. . . Also has good toughness. . . Quickness and toughness make him an excellent special team player. . . Could be used again to return punts this fall, but may even be more valuable in other areas of special team play. . . An excellent student who came to Carolina as a Morehead Scholar. . . Got a congressional appointment to the U.S. Military Academy, but passed it up to come to Chapel Hill. . . Played runningback, wide receiver and safety at East Forsyth High School. . . All city/county defensive back as a junior and senior. . . Leading rusher in Forsyth County as a senior with 962 yards. . . Had a single-game high of 274. . . Team captain. . . Lettered three times in football, four times in track and twice in basketball. . . Member of the National Honor Society and president of student government. . . His dad competed in basketball, baseball and track at Alabama State. . . Majoring in criminal justice. . . Born January 25, 1962.

Brian Blados
Offensive Tackle
6-6, 295, Senior
Arlington, Va.

Regarded by his coaches as the best offensive lineman in the Atlantic Coast Conference. . . Looms as a strong candidate for All-America honors in his senior season. . . Just might be the best tackle ever to play at Carolina. . . Another in a long line of standout Tar Heel offensive linemen. . . Has teamed with All-America guard David Drechsler to give Carolina sensational play on the left side of the line for the past two seasons. . . However, playing on the same team with Drechsler and All-ACC guard Ron Spruill has probably hurt him in all-star voting. . . His outstanding play has simply been over-shadowed by that of Drechsler and Spruill. . . Now with those two graduated, he should finally get his overdue acclaim. . . Has started 24 straight games at left tackle. . . Had an outstanding junior season, grading out in every game. . . ACC Player of the Week for his performance at Wake Forest. . . However, played with good consistency all year. . . His blocking was a major factor in Carolina setting a school total offense record and finishing sixth nationally in total offense. . . In his two years as a starter, Tar Heel tailbacks have rushed for 4,646 yards and scored 52 touchdowns. . . His blocking has played a big role in that success. . . Topped his great junior season with a sensational performance against Texas All-America and Kiki DeAyala in the Sun Bowl. . .

After lettering as a backup in 1980, moved into a starting job in 1981. . . Got better and better throughout that season and that steady improvement is still continuing. . . After maturing and gaining experience, he was outstanding down the stretch of his sophomore year. . . Named to the Football News' All-Bowl Team that season for his play in the Gator Bowl against Arkansas. . . First-team Sophomore All-America on the squads chosen by the Football News and Blue Chips Magazine. . . Worked very hard last spring to improve. . . Did an especially good job of improving his pass protection in the off-season work. . . Has good leadership qualities and will be counted on as a leader this fall. . . Most obvious asset is size. . . However, has excellent athletic ability in addition to that huge frame. . . Has fine quickness for a man of his size. . . Has good initial explosion and also gives a good second effort. . . Knows his position very well and is aware of what is happening on the field at all times. . . Picks up things quickly. . . One of only four current players who has won three letters. . .

Played tight end and defensive tackle at Washington & Lee High School. . . All-state as a senior and team captain. . . Earned three letters in football and track and one in wrestling. . . Set school records in the shot put and discus. . . A district wrestling champion. . . Majoring in recreation.

Jeff Blaylock
Outside Linebacker
6-4, 225, Senior
Andrews, N.C.

Did a good job last season as Aaron Jackson's backup at one outside linebacker post. . . Had a very good spring and is expected to challenge Jackson for the starting spot this fall. . . Had 12 solo tackles, seven assists and two sacks in 1982. . . Sacks came against Vanderbilt and Wake Forest. . . Started the game at Wake Forest in place of Jackson. . . Was a big factor on Tar Heel special teams. . . Lettered while playing behind Calvin Daniels in 1981. . . A jayvee player in 1980. . . Came to Carolina without a scholarship, but has won one with his hard work. . . Has good quickness and speed. . . Very consistent. . . Has good football intelligence and doesn't make a lot of mistakes. . . A hard-nosed competitor. . . Has improved his strength in the last year. . . Fullback and nose guard at Andrews High. . . Named co-MVP in his conference. . . Selected for the North-South All-Star Game. . . Turned down a couple of scholarships to come to Carolina as a walk-on. . . Once gained 340 yards rushing in a high school game. . . Majoring in industrial relations. . . Born January 1, 1962.

David Boggs
Nose Guard
6-1, 230, Junior
Statesville, N.C.

Goes into the fall as the number three nose guard. . . Had a good spring. . . Played all three defensive interior positions in the spring work. . . That versatility should help him and the team. . . Smart and quick. . . Has a great attitude. . . Reminds Tar Heel coaches of Bob Duncan, a starter at nose guard in 1979. . . Is bigger than Duncan, however. . . Good toughness. . . Capable of being a good backup. . . Has a great attitude. . . A walk-on who saw junior varsity action as a freshman. . . Member of the varsity last season, but did not letter. . . Majoring in industrial relations.

Eddison Bramble
Defensive Back
5-10, 200, Junior
Garden City Park, N.Y.

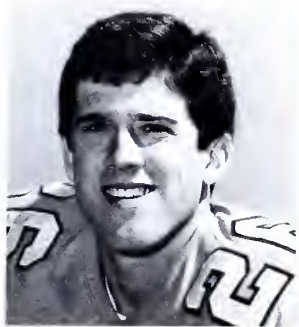

Probably made as much improvement as any defensive back during spring practice. . . Goes into the fall as the number three strong safety, but figures to get playing time. . . Has only been on defense for one season. . . Came to Carolina as a tailback and worked there in the spring of 1982. . . Was shifted to strong safety last fall. . . Saw action mainly as a special team player and did a good job in that area. . . Had seven solo tackles and one assist. . . Caused an Army fumble with a big hit in the game against the Cadets. . . A hard worker and a good hitter. . . Has a fine attitude and wants to be a good player. . . Needs to improve his quickness. . . Has good size and strength. . . Junior varsity player as a freshman, but did get into two varsity games at tailback. . . Played tailback and outside linebacker at Mineola High. . . Was hampered most of his senior season there by a sprained ankle. . . Still was all-county, all-state and All-Long Island for a second straight year. . . Also named to Centenary Prep All-America and Academic All-America teams. . . Selected a National Hall of Fame Scholar-Athlete. . . Earned three letters in football and seven in track. . . His father is a minister. . . An industrial relations major. . . Born December 9, 1962.

69

6-5, 248, Junior
High Point, N.C.

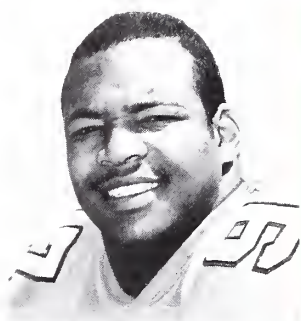

Heads into his second season as William Fuller's chief backup at one tackle slot. . . Had six solo tackles and five assists last year. . . Did a good job on special teams. . . Being counted on to excel in that area again this fall. . . Will also play a lot in the defensive interior. . . Becomes especially valuable in passing situations. . . Speed and competitiveness make him a fine pass rusher. . . A very physical

Why Tar Heels?

University of North Carolina athletic teams are known as the Tar Heels because North Carolina is "The Tar Heel State."

The nickname is said to have been applied to the area's residents as long ago as the Revolutionary War. The production of tar and turpentine was a major industry in the state at that time. Legend has it that British generals noticed barefooted natives with tar on their heels and first used the sobriquet.

Others say the nickname was acquired during the Civil War. Supposedly during one particular battle the Southern forces were being routed. Only the North Carolina brigade was not retreating. Legend has it that Robert E. Lee remarked to one of his officers, "Look at those North Carolina boys. They're holding their ground like they have tar on their heels."

Ron Burton
Outside Linebacker
6-3, 228, Sophomore
Richmond, Va.

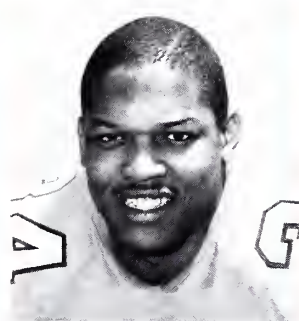

Good young prospect whose progress has been hampered by injury. . . Lettered as a special teams player last fall and showed signs of fine potential. . . However, he tore upper-arm muscles in his right arm in the off-season. . . Missed all of the spring because of that. . . Could have contended for Mike Wilcher's old starting spot if he had not been hurt. . . Now will go into the fall behind the other players at this spot. . . Still, he has the physical tools to play. . . Lacks experience and is difficult to evaluate because of that. . . A hard worker. . . Has a lot of natural ability. . . Strong and explosive. . . Has very good speed and good quickness. . . Will get playing time on special teams and eventually at outside linebacker. . . Played on teams at Highland Springs High which won two district championships and a regional title in his senior year. . . Outside linebacker on defense and tight end/fullback on offense. . . Caught seven touchdown passes as a tight end and rushed for five as a fullback. . . Made 84 tackles, recovered three fumbles and intercepted four passes. . . Here's one of Carolina's finest players. . . Has the ability to be a great back. . . Has speed, agility, strength and size. . . Has developed more toughness and become a better blocker in the last year. . . Has always had a great running style. . . Stays low and bounces off tacklers. . . Has unusual speed for a fullback. . . A great open-field runner. . . Gifted enough to play tailback. . . Capable of getting the extra yard when it's needed. . . Has great acceleration for a man of his size. . . Alternated with James Jones at fullback last season. . . Moved into the starting job in the Sun Bowl against Texas and kept it with a solid showing in spring practice. . . Carolina's fourth-leading ground-gainer last season. . . Rushed for 255 yards on 49 carries, averaging 5.2 yards per rush. . . Also caught eight passes, including one for 22 yards and a touchdown against Bowling Green. . . Top single-game rushing performances were 54 yards on 11 carries against Army and 51 yards on nine carries against N.C. State. . . Did an excellent job in the Sun Bowl with 38 yards on eight carries. . . His tough second-half running in that game complemented that of Ethan Horton as Carolina came from behind to defeat Texas, 26-10. . . Should get the ball more this season than he did last year. . . Had seen only spot varsity action as a freshman, getting most of his playing time in jayvee games. . . Moved into prominence last year after a knee injury sidelined Alan Burrus in the second game of the season. . . Came to Carolina after a brilliant career at Jacksonville High. . . Led his team to the state championship game as a senior. . . Gained 221 yards on 44 carries in the state semi-finals. . . Finished the year with 1,801 yards and 19 touchdowns. . . 80

Arnold Franklin
Tight End
6-4, 240, Sophomore
Lincoln Heights, Ohio

One of the best young players in college football. . . Played a great deal as a backup last year. . . Moved into the starting lineup late in the season after Doug Sickels sprained an ankle and kept the starting job. . . Had 10 catches for 112 yards. . . Made a three-yard touchdown catch at Clemson. . . His 10 receptions equalled the most ever by a Tar Heel freshman. . . Set another freshman record with five catches in a single game against Virginia. . . Named Atlantic Coast Conference Rookie of the Week for that performance. . . Selected to the Freshman All-America team picked by the Football News. . . Was a very good technician as just a freshman. . . Developed into an excellent blocker at the end of last season. . . Has the physical tools to be one of the premier blockers in the ACC. . . A great receiver. . . Has a fine pair of hands and good speed. . . A tough competitor who catches the ball well in crowds. . . A deep thigh bruise kept him out of much of spring practice. . . Being counted on for even better play this fall now that he has a year of experience under his belt. . . Came to Carolina after being named Ohio Lineman of the Year at Princeton High in 1981. . . Played tight end, linebacker and runningback there. . . Caught 25 passes for 479 yards and eight touchdowns as a senior. . . Played on teams which were 9-1 and third in the state, 9-2 and second in the state and 8-2 and seventh in the state. . . All three won conference championships. . . Named Cincinnati's Player of the Year by the Cincinnati Enquirer and the Cincinnati Post. . . All-league, all-city and all-state. . . All-America selection by Parade Magazine, the National High School Coaches Association and Adidas. . . Also lettered three times in basketball. . . In Carolina's general college. . . Born December 16, 1963.

William Fuller
Defensive Tackle
6-4, 250, Senior
Chesapeake, Va.

First-team All-America selection in his junior season last year. . . Named to the teams picked by the Football Writers Association of America and the Football News. . . Second-team selection by the Associated Press. . . Finalist for the Outland Trophy as the best lineman in college football. . . Should be a top candidate for the Outland and the Lombardi Award this year. . . All-Atlantic Coast Conference choice for the second straight year last fall. . . Had a brilliant junior season with 43 solo tackles and 16 assists. . . Those statistics weren't quite as impressive as the ones he compiled as a sophomore, but he was a better player. . . Attracted more attention from opponents last fall because of his sophomore success. . . Was often double-teamed. . . However, that opened things up for Carolina's other defenders. . . Tar Heels finished second nationally in total defense and the play of Fuller had much to do with that. . . Created constant chaos at the line of scrimmage with his amazing quickness. . . Opponents ran away from him, but he still made plenty of big plays. . . Helped give Carolina a great pass rush. . . Only had six sacks, but put pressure on the passer all year. . . Constantly caused quarterbacks to throw early or chased them out of the pocket where another defender could get to them. . . In addition to his six sacks, had seven other tackles for losses. . . Called by Vanderbilt Coach George MacIntyre "the best defensive player we've seen". . . ACC Player of the Week for his play against Bowling Green. . . Had five solo tackles, including two sacks, in that game. . . Also caused four hurried throws and had two "forced scrambles". . . Did a great job of rushing the passer against Vanderbilt, Wake Forest and N.C. State. . . Forced 12 hurried passes in those games and chased the quarterback out of the pocket three other times. . . Had nine solo tackles against Virginia, two tackles for losses and three forced hurries. . . Against Maryland he had five solo tackles, three assists, one sack, one tackle for a loss, three forced hurries and also caused a fumble. . . Played very well at Clemson with six solo tackles, two assists and two tackles for losses. . . Didn't make a lot of hits, but had a fine game in the Sun Bowl against Texas. . .

Capped that junior season by turning in a great effort last spring. . . Was even better then than he had been last fall. . . Developed into more of a leader in the off-season. . . Will make line calls and checks this fall. . . Plays with great intensity. . . Possesses tremendous quickness and speed for a man of his size. . . Tough and very conscientious. . . Wants to be a great player and works at it. . . Extremely coachable and a super competitor. . . If he gains just a little more weight, he'll be a great pro prospect. . . May do that because he's one of the team's hardest workers in the weight room. . .

Named the nation's top sophomore defensive player two seasons ago by the Football News. . . Also selected to the Sophomore All-America team picked by Blue Chips Magazine and to the All-ACC team. . . Was the Tar Heels' leading tackler that season with 60 solo hits and 24 assists. . . Had nine sacks and 13 other tackles for losses. . . Those 22 tackles behind the line of scrimmage equalled the most in Dick Crum's time at Carolina. . . Lawrence Taylor had that same number in 1980. . . Fuller had 12 solo tackles and two assists in the 1981 season opener against East Carolina (his first start) and simply proceeded to get better every week. . . Had two sacks and three other tackles for losses against Wake Forest, nine solo tackles at Georgia Tech and four tackles behind the line of scrimmage at Maryland. . . Had eight solo hits and three assists against national champion Clemson, including three sacks. . . Named ACC Player of the Week after knocking down two passes, forcing four hurried throws and recording two sacks at Duke. . . Accomplished that despite the fact he had missed practice all week with an ankle sprain. . .

Played on the junior varsity as a freshman. . . Gained valuable experience on the scout team that year while playing against All-America guard Ron Wooten and second-team All-America center Rick Donnalley. . . Lettered twice in football and twice in track at Indian River High School. . . That's the same school which produced Mike Voight, the former Tar Heel tailback who was twice ACC Player of the Year. . . Fuller was All-Tidewater, all-metro, all-city, all-state and Centenary All-America. . . Majoring in industrial relations. . . Born March 8, 1962.

Lee Gliarmis
Kicking Specialist
5-10, 181, Freshman
Wilson, N.C.

Has all the tools to be a fine college kicker. . . However, probably won't see much action this fall since Carolina returns Brooks Barwick, who re-wrote most of the school's place-kicking records last season. . . Gliarmis is a conventional kicker with a very good leg. . . Accurate up to about 48 or 49 yards. . . Gets great initial height on the ball. . . Needs to get stronger and is working to do that. . . Good all-around athlete. . . Booted 27 career field goals at Fike High School. . . Eight of those were over 40 yards, including a 49-yarder. . . Made seven of 12 field goals as a senior and 19 of 22 PATs. . . Once kicked four field goals in a game. . . Twice an all-conference and All-East choice and three times an all-area selection. . . Named to the Associated Press all-state team twice. . . Parade All-America. . . Kicked two field goals in the 1981 Shrine Bowl. . . Lettered three times in football and tennis. . . His father, Lee, played basketball and baseball at Carolina in the mid-Forties. . . Had a brother, Socrates, who was a kicker at East Carolina in the late 1970's. . . In Carolina's general college. . . Born November 28, 1963.

Hiram Godwin
Tailback
6-1, 205, Sophomore
Camden, N.C.

A walk-on who goes into the fall as Carolina's number three tailback. . . Has the potential to eventually be a factor in Tar Heel plans. . . Raw right now and not as polished as the other Carolina tailbacks. . . However, showed good signs in the spring. . . A hard worker with good size. . . A fine inside runner. . . Lacks experience and speed. . . Still learning the position. . . Needs to work on his blocking. . . A competitor who could be a good special teams player. . . Has good hands and is a candidate for the punt return job. . . Saw just spot action last season. . . Had a four-yard run against Army on his only carry of the year.

Butch Griffin
Outside Linebacker
6-1, 225, Senior
Williamston, N.C.

A key figure in Carolina's defensive plans. . . After two years as a backup to All-ACC performer Mike Wilcher, Griffin is set to move into a starting job. . . Being counted on to be one of the defensive leaders. . . Has gained valuable experience in his reserve role and as a regular on special teams. . . That playing time will be a big help this fall. . . Has good strength and explosiveness. . . Very intelligent player. . . Disciplined and a good technician. . . Has good speed and quickness. . . A solid, all-around athlete. . . Had six solo tackles and five assists last year. . . Recorded sacks against Vanderbilt and Army. . . Started once in his career — as a sophomore at Virginia because of an injury to Wilcher. . . Responded with three solo tackles and six assists that day. . . Has done a fine job on special teams for the last three seasons. . . However, has been hampered off and on by a severe groin pull since the spring of 1982. . . One of four squad members who has won three letters. . . Played fullback and linebacker at Williamston High. . . Gained over 800 yards rushing as a senior and averaged 12 solo tackles a game. . . Twice an all-conference and all-area selection. . . Played in the East-West All-Star Game. . . Majoring in industrial relations. . . Born November 25, 1962.

The Retired Jerseys

Five Carolina football jerseys — numbers 22, 46, 50, 59 and 99 — have been retired over the years in honor of the men who wore them.

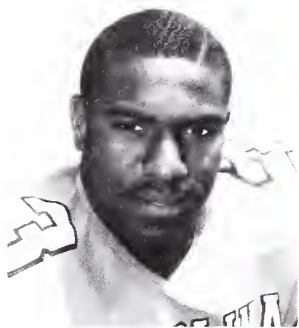

The number 22 was almost as well known as the athlete who wore it — Charlie "Choo Choo" Justice. One of college football's all-time superstars, Justice was an All-America halfback at Carolina from 1946 to 1949. In fact, those years generally are known as simply "The Justice Era" in Chapel Hill.

Carl Snavelly, Justice's coach, was instrumental in getting number 46 retired. That belonged to Cotton Sutherland, an outstanding back who was killed in an automobile crash while a Carolina Student.

Number 50 was Art Weiner, an All-America end in the late Forties. In 1949 Art caught a school-record 52 passes. He was also a great defensive player.

Another end, Andy Bershak, wore 59. A defensive stand-out, he was an All-America selection in 1939.

Carolina's first All-America, George Barclay, had the number 99. He was a star guard and earned All-America honors in 1934.

Larry Griffin
Wide Receiver
6-1, 187, Sophomore
Chesapeake, Va.

Missed all of last season with a knee injury. . . His return this fall will be a big boost to the Tar Heel passing game. . . One of the biggest surprises of the 1981 season. . . Did an excellent job at flanker in his first year at that position. . . Came to Carolina as a quarterback, but asked to be moved to wide receiver in pre-season practice. . . When injuries sidelined some of the other Tar Heel wide-outs, Griffin moved up on the depth chart. . . Started a couple of games early in the year. . . Saw a great deal of action since Carolina alternates its wide receivers. . . Hampered by nagging injuries the last half of the season. . . Finished with 10 catches for 191 yards and three touchdowns. . . The 10 catches was a Carolina record for freshmen and was equalled last fall by Arnold Franklin and Earl Winfield. . . His scoring receptions covered 16 yards against Miami, 25 against Wake Forest and 19 against South Carolina. . . Griffin and Ethan Horton were voted the team's top freshman players. . . Tore muscles in his knee in pre-season practice and missed the 1982 campaign. . . Was then bothered by minor injuries last spring. . . Despite those injuries, showed the form he had displayed as a freshman. . . Has excellent hands. . . A great clutch receiver who will make the big play. . . Has made exceptional progress considering the amount of time he has been at this position. . . A good leader. . . Goes into the 1983 season as the number two flanker, but will see plenty of action. . . An All-Eastern Region, all-city, all-district and all-metro quarterback at Great Bridge High. . . Threw for 18 touchdowns and scored 10 as a two-year starter there. . . Played on two district championship teams. . . Won two letters in football, basketball and baseball. . . His major is industrial relations. . . Born January 11, 1963.

30

Willie Harris
Defensive Back
6-2, 190, Senior
Wilson, N.C.

One of the biggest surprises of the 1982 Atlantic Coast Conference season. . . Came from nowhere to win All-ACC honors in his first year as a starter. . . Selected to the all-conference teams picked by both the Atlantic Coast Sports Writers Association and the Associated Press. . . Had a super season at strong safety after playing in only a backup role in his first two years. . . Carolina's third-leading tackler last fall with 51 solo hits and 19 assists. . . Had seven tackles for losses and one interception. . . Seemed to make at least one big play each week. . . ACC Player of the Week for his performances against Wake Forest and N.C. State. . . Had five solo tackles and one assist at Wake Forest, recovered a fumble and had one tackle for a loss. . . Made nine solo tackles and had one assist against the Wolfpack. . . Had a great game in the Sun Bowl against Texas with eight solo hits, two tackles for losses and a pass broken up in the secondary. . . Also made a big goal-line stop which helped turn the game around. . . His interception came at Clemson. . . Made perhaps the most jarring tackle of the Tar Heel season with a hit in the Vanderbilt game. . . Dick Crum called it "a picture-perfect tackle". . . Always tough against the run, Harris developed into a solid pass defender last year. . . Has a good understanding of the game. . . Possesses good instincts and a lot of savvy. . . Understands coverages well. . . Speed and quickness have improved in the last year and a half. . . Hard work has paid off in those areas. . . One of the toughest players on the Tar Heel team. . . Has always been a great hitter. . . Had plenty of big hits again last spring. . . Very coachable and has a great attitude. . . Should be a team leader this fall. . . Had seen a good deal of action in 1981 as a reserve behind Bill Jackson. . . Started three games that year (Maryland, Clemson and Virginia) while Jackson was sidelined with an injury. . . Also played on special teams. . . Played safety and wide receiver at James B. Hunt High School. . . All-conference and all-area for three straight seasons. . . Two-time all-area selection in basketball and a sectional qualifier in the 400 in track. . . Wilson Daily Times' High School Athlete of the Year as a senior. . . Majoring in industrial relations. . . Born April 6, 1962.

Steve Hendrickson
Defensive Back
6-0, 173, Junior
Danville, Va.

Starter at free safety in 1982. . . Won that starting role with a good showing in pre-season workouts. . . Will handle that same job again this fall. . . Led the Tar Heels with three interceptions last year. . . Those interceptions came against Pittsburgh, Georgia Tech and Virginia. . . Made 14 solo tackles and assisted on 17 others. . . Had seen considerable action as a freshman. . . Played as Carolina's nickel back and as a reserve at free safety. . . Very intelligent player. . . Has a good understanding of the game and Carolina's defensive concepts. . . Doesn't make a lot of mistakes. . . That was even true in his freshman season. . . Has good instincts. . . Very coachable. . . Needs to improve his quickness. . . Three-year secondary starter at George Washington High School. . . Had eight career interceptions there. . . All-South, all-state and honorable mention All-America as a senior. . . His teams won three straight Western District championships and had a three-year regular-season record of 27-1. . . Played in the East-West All-Star Game. . . Vice-president of the National Honor Society. . . Graduated fourth in his class with a 96.4 average. . . George Washington is the same high school which produced former star Carolina linebacker Buddy Curry. . . Majoring in chemistry. . . Hopes to go to medical school. . . Born December 18, 1962.

Ethan Horton
Tailback
6-4, 220, Junior
Kannapolis, N.C.

A former quarterback who has developed into an outstanding tailback. . . Teams with Tyrone Anthony to give Carolina a great tailback combination. . . Could be the tailback starter, but will see plenty of action whether he is or isn't. . . Expected to contend for all-star honors. . . A backup to Kelvin Bryant last year. . . Carolina's third-leading rusher with 576 yards. . . Second on the team in scoring with nine touchdowns and fourth-leading receiver with 12 catches. . . Started against Army, Georgia Tech and Wake Forest last season because of an ankle injury suffered by Bryant. . . Rushed for a career-high 201 yards against Vanderbilt after Bryant was injured early in the game. . . Had a 61-yard run against the Commodores. . . Ran for 110 yards in the Georgia Tech game. . . Had a 44-yard catch against Army, one of five receptions he made that day. . . Came in after Bryant was injured against Texas in the Sun Bowl and won MVP honors, rushing for 119 yards and scoring on a three-yard run. . . All of that yardage came in the second half of play. . . That marked his second straight star performance in a bowl game. . . He and Bryant had been co-MVPs in the 1981 Gator Bowl. . . Rushed for 144 yards on 27 carries in that game against Arkansas. . . Scored two touchdowns on runs of one and four yards. . . Saw considerable action that night because of leg cramps suffered by Bryant. . .

Opened his freshman season in 1981 as Carolina's third-string quarterback. . . Was shifted to tailback after Anthony was hurt in the South Carolina game. . . With Bryant also injured, Carolina desperately needed help at that spot. . . Started the following week at Maryland and gained 94 yards on 26 carries. . . Scored the Tar Heels' first touchdown that day on a one-yard plunge. . . ACC Rookie of the Week for that performance. . . Saw limited action the rest of the season as Bryant returned to the lineup. . . Finished with 144 yards rushing on 40 carries. . . Was given an opportunity to return to quarterback in the spring of 1982, but chose to remain at tailback. . . Now ranks as one of the best runners in the country. . .

A superb, all-around back. . . Doesn't have great speed, but that's all he lacks. . . A big, powerful football player. . . Very durable. . . Gets better the more he carries the ball. . . Strong and has good moves. . . Breaks tackles and is very tough to bring down. . . Has a slashing running style, but is also quite smooth. . . An extraordinary talent who makes things happen. . . Tough and a fine blocker, considering most of his career has been spent at quarterback. . . Still learning this position and still getting better. . . Has played his first two seasons here on pure athletic ability. . . Improved in all phases of play last spring. . . Made better decisions of picking holes in the spring work. . . Also was a better receiver. . . Great practice player. . . Goes full speed all the time. . . Wants to excel. . .

Had a great prep career at A.L. Brown High. . . Named to every all-state team as a senior. . . Selected to Centenary, Adidas and Camation All-America teams. . . Guided his teams to records of 7-3, 11-1 and 9-1 as a wishbone quarterback. . . Co-captain and most valuable player in the Shrine Bowl. . . Also played in the East-West All-Star Game. . . An RTVMP major. . . Born December 19, 1962.

Aaron Jackson
Outside Linebacker
6-4, 238, Junior
Washington, D.C.

Played the outside linebacker post opposite Mike Wilcher last season. . . Has great natural ability. . . However, has been inconsistent at times. . . Worked on that in the spring and did a good job, particularly the last two weeks of practice. . . Goes into the fall as the starter again, but should be challenged for that spot by Jeff Blaylock. . . Big and very strong. . . Has fine speed. . . Great explosion. . . Capable of making the big play. . . Carolina's 10th-leading tackler last fall with 26 solo hits and 17 assists. . . Had three sacks and three other tackles for losses. . . Sacks came against Pittsburgh, Vanderbilt and Army. . . May have played his best game at Pitt. . . Had three solo tackles, including the sack, and six assists against the Panthers. . . Played behind Calvin Daniels at this spot in 1981 and also did a good job on special teams. . . Had missed the entire 1980 season with a knee injury. . . Got a hardship ruling and an extra year of eligibility. . . Tight end, linebacker and runningback at Bullis School. . . All-metro and conference player of the year as a senior. . . Intercepted three passes that year, blocked four kicks, caused five fumbles and had 11 sacks. . . Earned two letters in football, basketball and track. . . Conference's top rebounder as a senior. . . Set school record in the 440-yard dash and also ran on 440-relay team. . . Majoring in psychology. . . Born March 16, 1961.

Barry James
Defensive Back
5-10, 178, Junior
Middletown, Ohio

Goes into the fall as the number two strong safety. . . Saw action in that role and on special teams last season. . . Showed signs in the spring of developing into a good defensive back. . . Has all the physical tools to play. . . Runs well. . . A tough hitter. . . Needs more consistency. . . That's his major problem. . . Being counted on to again back up Willie Harris at strong safety and to be a leader on the special teams. . . Has done a good job with the special teams in his first two years at Carolina. . . Two-year starter at linebacker and wide receiver at Middletown High. . . Won three letters. . . Had one game where he made 15 solo tackles and blocked a punt with which he scored. . . Two-year starter in basketball and also lettered twice in track. . . Ran the final leg on the Ohio state championship 880 relay team. . . Won All-America honors in track. . . Undecided on a major. . . Born November 15, 1961.

Larry James
Defensive Back
5-10, 178, Junior
Middletown, Ohio

Carolina's starting left cornerback. . . Opened the 1982 season as a backup at this spot. . . However, was forced into action because of an injury to Greg Poole. . . Played a great deal with Poole in and out of the lineup. . . Had played mainly on special teams as a freshman. . . Despite his inexperience in the secondary, did a pretty good job. . . Finished seventh on the team in tackles with 32 solos and 13 assists. . . Did a fine job on special teams in 1981. . . Recovered a fumbled punt at the Maryland 20-yard line that year to set up the winning touchdown against the Terps. . . That play came with just 1:26 left in the game and the score tied. . . Also recovered a fumbled punt in the Gator Bowl to set up Carolina's first TD against Arkansas. . . Has good overall athletic ability. . . Did a fine job last spring. . . Played with more confidence in the spring work. . . Got a lot of work and showed steady improvement. . . Plays with intensity. . . An aggressive hitter. . . Runs well. . . Capable of making the big play. . . Needs to improve his hands. . . Like his twin brother, Barry, a three-sport star at Middletown High School. . . Ran track and played football and basketball. . . Nose guard and wide receiver in football. . . Ran on a state championship 440 relay team and on a district championship mile relay team. . . An industrial relations major. . . Born November 15, 1961.

Darryl Johnson
Defensive Back
6-0, 178, Junior
Charlotte, N.C.

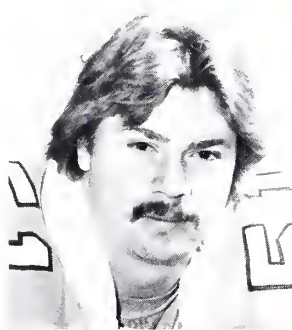

A non-scholarship player who has a good chance to contribute. . . Listed as the number three free safety going into the fall. . . Also worked at cornerback in the spring. . . Did a good job in the off-season work. . . Tough and smart. . . Understands the Tar Heel defense. . . Good all-around athlete. . . Has a fine attitude. . . Could be used as a nickel back this fall. . . Will also see special team action. . . Saw limited playing time last season. . . A member of the Carolina bowling club. . . Played at West Charlotte High School. . . Majoring in art and mathematics.

72

Mike Johnson
Defensive Tackle
6-5, 242, Freshman
Dover, Del.

A reserve behind William Fuller who should see action this fall. . . Was red-shirted last season. . . Did a good job on the scout team. . . Then made more progress in spring practice. . . Capable of being a very good player. . . Has fine size and runs well. . . Very intense and conscientious. . . Wants to excel. . . Got a lot of work in the spring because of an injury to Bill Bumgarner, the other backup at this tackle spot. . . That extra practice will help him this fall. . . Still needs work and experience. . . Played offensive and defensive tackle at Dover High School. . . Earned all-state honors on defense. . . Selected for the Delaware high school all-star game. . . Has a twin sister who is on a track scholarship at Virginia. . . Wants to major in art. . . Currently enrolled in the general college. . . Born September 29, 1964.

51

Brian Johnston
Defensive Tackle
6-4, 255, Junior
Highland, Md.

Has the potential to be a solid player in the defensive front. . . Goes into the fall as a starter at the tackle opposite All-America William Fuller. . . Could challenge for all-star honors himself. . . Opened the 1982 season as a backup to Jack Parry at this spot. . . Did a good job in that role. . . However, had to be moved to center after Steve McGrew tore ligaments in his knee at Wake Forest and was lost for the season. . . Had started the last three games of the 1981 season at center because of another injury to McGrew. . . Was then switched to defense the following spring. . . Started the final seven games last year at center and did a fine job. . . Might have challenged for All-Atlantic Coast Conference honors at center this year if he had stayed there. . . But, went back to defense in the spring. . . Should team with Fuller to give Carolina great play at the tackles. . . Good athlete with great quickness. . . Tough and aggressive with excellent upper body strength. . . Hard-nosed and physical. . . An intense competitor. . . A good pass rusher. . . Smart player who is aware of what's going on at all times. . . A hustler with a lot of desire. . . Has tremendous work habits on the practice field. . . Did a fine job in last spring's practice sessions. . . Capable of giving Carolina its best play at this spot since Donnell Thompson, a third-team All-America in 1980 and a first-round NFL draft choice. . . His presence should take some of the pressure off Fuller and will help offset the loss of Mike Wilcher, an All-ACC outside linebacker last year and a second-round NFL draft selection. . . Came to Carolina in 1980, but missed the entire season with a hernia. . . Got a hardship ruling and an extra year of eligibility because of that. . . Defensive tackle and offensive guard at Glenelg High. . . All-metro performer in the Baltimore area. . . Played on county championship teams in 1977 and 1979. . . Lettered three times in football, twice in track and once in basketball and wrestling. . . RTVMP major. . . Born November 26, 1962.

48

James Jones
Fullback
6-0, 216, Senior
Rocky Mount, N.C.

Number two fullback on the Tar Heel depth chart. . . Starter most of the 1982 season. . . An ankle injury late in the year allowed Eddie Colson to take over the starting spot. . . Colson kept it with a solid showing in spring practice. . . However, Jones will still get plenty of playing time this fall. . . Does a great job as a lead blocker for Carolina's tailbacks. . . Enjoys blocking and takes great pride in it. . . Tar Heel tailbacks rushed for 2,467 yards last season and the blocking of Jones was a major factor in that. . . Only had 18 carries himself for 70 yards. . . Top rushing game was 32 yards on seven carries against Vanderbilt. . . Scored on a short plunge against Army. . . Improved his running in spring practice. . . Became a more complete back. . . Very intelligent and doesn't make many mistakes. . . Diagnoses defenses well. . . One of the team's strongest players. . . Has good work habits. . . Probably Carolina's toughest back. . . Very coachable. . . A quality person. . . Came to Carolina without a scholarship, but has earned one with his work and dedication. . . First gained attention in the spring of 1981. . . Came from nowhere to win the backup fullback job. . . Had been a jayvee player as a freshman. . . Played as a reserve through most of 1981. . . Had the top rushing game of his career in the season opener — 33 yards against East Carolina. . . Moved into the starting lineup at Duke that year after Alan Burrus injured a knee at Virginia. . . Was the lead blocker as Kelvin Bryant gained 247 yards against the Blue Devils. . . Brad Mitchell
Wide Receiver
6-0, 160, Sophomore
Wilmington, Del.

Came out on his own last fall as a freshman and made the Tar Heel travelling squad. . . Didn't catch a pass, but impressed the coaches with his hard work and determination. . . Has a good pair of hands. . . His strength is his consistency in catching the football. . . Doesn't have the great natural talent of some players, but makes up for that with diligence and work. . . Made strides in the spring. . . Capable of playing either flanker or split end. . . That helps the Tar Heel depth situation and increases his importance.

39

Micah Moon
Linebacker
6-3, 220, Junior
Lynch Station, Va.

One of Carolina's finest players. . . Should challenge for all-star honors in his first year as a starter. . . Played behind Chris Ward, an All-Atlantic Coast Conference performer and the team MVP, last year. . . Also saw special teams action. . . Did an excellent job in those roles. . . Had 19 solo tackles, 15 assists and two sacks. . . His sacks came against N.C. State and Duke. . . Had one start at the other linebacker spot against Georgia Tech because of an injury to Bill Sheppard. . . Was great in the Sun Bowl game with Texas. . . Ran for first down yardage from a blocking back position on a fake punt. . . That kept alive a drive that ended with a Tar Heel field goal. . . Had four solo tackles and broke up a pass. . . Also had a jarring sack which caused a fumble in the Carolina end zone, resulting in a Tar Heel touchdown. . . That hit against the Longhorns is typical of his play. . . He packs a wallop as a tackler. . .

Moved into the starting lineup in the spring and handled the position very well. . . Made all the defensive calls, which was a new role for him. . . Did an exceptional job, mentally and physically. . .

Has all the physical tools a linebacker needs. . . Big, fast, strong and smart. . . Has very good acceleration to the football, which certainly helps him at this spot. . . Also has fine instincts. . . Acceleration and instincts help him do a fine job on underneath pass coverage. . . His tremendous hitting ability, intelligence and speed should make him a big-play man on defense. . . Diagnoses plays well and will get better at that with more experience. . . Has a great sense of humor. . . Keeps things lively with that humor, especially at practice. . . Serious once the ball is snapped, however, and is all business. . . Has good leadership qualities. . . Has done a good job of preparing himself for the upcoming season. . . Is going to get better and better the more he plays. . .

Was a reserve fullback as a freshman. . . Saw spot varsity action and played in two jayvee games. . . Shifted to linebacker after Lee Shaffer was injured late in the year and has been there ever since. . . A linebacker and runningback at Altavista High School. . . Made 85 solo tackles and had 80 assists as a senior there. . . All-district, all-region and all-state as a linebacker. . . All-district on offense. . . Played in the East-West All-Star Game. . . Won three letters in football and four each in basketball and track. . . District and regional champion in the triple jump and the 110-yard high hurdles. . . Majoring in recreation. . . 77
Greg Naron
Offensive Guard
6-4, 261, Junior
Pleasant Garden, N.C.

Another in a long line of standout Carolina offensive guards. . . Although last season was his first on offense, he showed excellent potential at this spot. . . Could challenge for All-Atlantic Coast Conference honors this fall. . . Saw a great deal of action at left guard last year because of injuries to David Drechsler and Ron Spruill. . . Started the N.C. State game and went all the way there while Drechsler was out with a sprained ankle. . . Came back into the starting lineup for the last two regular-season games and the Sun Bowl when Drechsler was shifted to right guard for the injured Spruill. . . Did a good job coming off the bench on those occasions. . . The playing time and experience he gained last fall were exactly what he needed. . . Could play either guard position, but will line up at Drechsler's old left guard spot. . . A hard worker. . . Has good strength and explosion. . . Has good initial quickness and runs well. . . Very good at pulling on sweeps because of his running ability. . . Tough kid who is a good competitor. . . Plays with enthusiasm. . . Coachable and dedicated. . . Very aggressive. . . Improved his pass protection in the spring. . . Reminds coaches somewhat of former Carolina All-America guard Ron Wooten. . . Capable of being that type of player. . . Played defensive tackle as a freshman before being moved to offense in the spring of 1982. . . Offensive and defensive tackle at Randleman High. . . Won three letters on teams which compiled an overall record of 25-5-1 and made two trips to the state playoffs. . . Also won two letters in basketball, one in baseball and four in track. . . 20

Rob Rogers
Kicking Specialist
6-0, 184, Junior
Raleigh, N.C.

Did an excellent job of kicking off last year and will handle that assignment again this fall. . . Also will kick long-range field goals. . . Kicked a 48-yard field goal at Pittsburgh last year on national television. . . That field goal was also the first one he had ever attempted in a college game. . . It equalled the third-longest in Carolina history. . . Don Hartig had also kicked a 48-yarder against Wake Forest in 1969. . . Attempted only one other field goal during the regular season and missed a 49-yarder against Virginia. . . Was sensational in the Sun Bowl against Texas. . . Did a great job of kicking off on a snowy, windy day. . . Also saw action as a punter that day and performed well in the adverse weather, averaging 36.0 yards on two punts. . . Punted in the shadow of his own goal line on both occasions. . . Kicked field goals of 53 and 47 yards in that game. . . Although the NCAA does not recognize bowl performances, the 53-yard kick equalled the longest in Tar Heel history. . . Ellis Alexander had booted a 53-yarder against N.C. State in 1973. . . Rogers also perfectly executed an important onside kick in the second half as the Tar Heels came from behind to beat Texas. . . He not only kicked the ball just the right distance, he also fell on it and recovered it. . . Voted one of the game's tri-MVPs by CBS Sports. . . A good, all-around athlete. . . Runs well. . . Gained strength over the course of the winter and that was evident in the spring. . . Was kicking better than he did last fall. . . Is expected to challenge David Lowe for the punting job this season. . . Was a walk-on defensive back on the 1981 junior varsity. . . Had been a candidate for the punting job last season. . . When Lowe won that spot, Rogers tried kicking off and quickly took that job. . . A quarterback at Broughton High. . . Also played golf there. . . An industrial relations major.

Ended spring practice behind Micah Moon at one linebacker post. . . Saw action last year in a reserve role and on special teams. . . Did a good job in those areas and should be a special teams performer once again. . . Had a good spring. . . Made good overall improvement. . . An intense competitor. . . Always in the ball game. . . Intelligent and diagnoses plays well. . . Conscientious and wants to do a good job. . . Possesses fine leadership qualities. . . Captained his Bethel High team as both a junior and a senior. . . Had 104 unassisted tackles as a junior and 115 as a senior. . . Two-time all-district and All-Peninsula selection at linebacker. . . Scholastic Coach and Centenary All-America as a senior. . . Selected for the East-West All-Star Game. . . Enrolled in the general college at Carolina. . . Born January 28, 1964.

Mark Sigmon
Offensive Tackle
6-3, 245, Junior
Denver, N.C.

Settled in at tackle last spring after playing tight end and offensive guard in his first two seasons at Carolina. . . A reserve behind Brian Blados at left tackle heading into the fall. . . Showed great improvement in the spring. . . Really worked himself into being a better football player. . . Tough and aggressive. . . Gained the confidence he needed with his fine showing in the off-season work. . . Got some playing time on special teams last year and could be used there again this fall. . . A tight end on the junior varsity in 1981 before being shifted to guard last season. . . Went to tackle in the spring. . . Won four football letters as a quarterback and linebacker at Bandys High School. . . Also lettered four times in basketball, twice in baseball and once in tennis. . . Played on basketball teams which were twice state runners-up. . . His brother, Gene, was co-captain of Carolina's 1963 Gator Bowl championship team. . . Majoring in industrial relations. . . Born December 10, 1962.

Troy Simmons
Linebacker
6-1, 204, Sophomore
Spring Lake, N.C.

Could be a factor at linebacker this fall if he is healthy. . . Injured a knee in the pre-season last year and did not play at all. . . Got a hardship ruling and an extra year of eligibility. . . Was running second-team at the time of his injury and pushing for a starting spot. . . Capable of being an outstanding player if he is 100 percent. . . Did not take part in spring practice, but worked hard to rehabilitate himself. . . Has excellent instincts on the playing field. . . Knows where the football is. . . That may be his best asset. . . Has good speed and is a very good hitter. . . One of the best technicians of all the linebackers. . . Executes very well. . . An intense player and a great student of the game. . . Played linebacker on the jayvees in 1981 before seeing late-season varsity action on special teams. . . A linebacker at Pine Forest High. . . Led his team to an 11-1 record as a senior there. . . All-East, all-conference and all-state. . . Won three football letters. . . One of his teammates there was N.C. State fullback Vince Evans. . . Played in the Shrine Bowl. . . A recreation major. . . Born October 22, 1962.

Mark Smith
Wide Receiver
6-0, 180, Senior
Fayetteville, N.C.

Carolina's second-leading receiver for each of the past two seasons. . . Had 27 catches last year for 479 yards, averaging 17.7 yards per catch. . . Five of those receptions were for touchdowns. . . His 17.7 average was the second-highest in the Atlantic Coast Conference and he was third in the league in TD catches. . . Started at flanker most of the year. . . Had two scoring receptions against Wake Forest and N.C. State and one against Maryland. . . Those plays covered 26 and 14 yards at Wake, 20 and 22 yards against N.C. State and 68 yards against Maryland. . . That 68-yard pass from Rod Elkins was Carolina's longest pass play of the year and equalled the 11th longest in school history. . . Came to Carolina as a tailback and played that position early in 1980. . . Moved to wide receiver at mid-season that year. . . Had 19 catches in 1981 for 368 yards and one touchdown, averaging 19.4 yards a catch. . . The touchdown was a 63-yard reception against Boston College. . . Now has 47 career catches, tying him for 15th place on the Tar Heels' all-time pass receiving list with Mel Collins. . . Has averaged 18.2 yards per reception in his career. . . The school record, with at least 50 catches required, is 16.7 by Lewis Jolley. . .

Again slated to start at flanker this fall. . . Goes into the new season after a good showing in spring practice. . . Showed improved toughness in the spring. . . Has become a more accomplished blocker. . . However, his main contribution will come in catching the football. . . Has excellent speed and gives Carolina a deep threat. . . Has experience and talent. . . Shifty runner once he gets the ball. . . Has become a more disciplined receiver. . . Could have a great senior year if he continues to improve his consistency. . . Will probably also be used on kickoff returns. . . Had 15 returns for 300 yards (20.0) last season with a long return of 35 yards at Clemson. . . Averaged 21.7 yards in that role as a freshman and 20.9 as a sophomore. . . Longest return of his career was a 42-yarder at Oklahoma in 1980. . . Made a big play in the Bluebonnet Bowl that same year, running 31 yards on a reverse to set up Carolina's winning touchdown against Texas. . . One of four current Tar Heels who has won three letters. . . Fine runningback at E. E. Smith High School. . . Played in the Shrine Bowl and the East-West All-Star Game. . . Majoring in recreation. . . Born April 4, 1962.

Ronnie Snipes
Nose Guard
6-1, 240, Junior
Durham, N.C.

Takes over the starting nose guard job after being the chief backup there for the past two years. . . Withstood the challenge of Dennis Barron to win the job in the spring. . . Carolina has gotten good nose guard play for the last few years and he should continue that tradition. . . Played well in his reserve role in the past. . . Gained valuable experience and now appears ready to play regularly. . . Worked hard to get this job in the spring. . . Matured a great deal in the off-season work. . . Always a good pass rusher, he improved in other areas during the spring. . . Has good strength and excellent quickness. . . Has tremendous power in his legs. . . Top performance of his career probably came in the 1981 Gator Bowl against Arkansas. . . Did an excellent job in goal line situations that night. . . It was his 17-yard sack on the Razorbacks' last possession that killed the final Arkansas scoring threat. . . Came to Carolina in the fall of 1980. . . Injured a knee in practice the week of the second game and missed the rest of the year. . . Was granted a hardship ruling and an extra year of eligibility. . . Was a defensive tackle, nose guard and place-kicker at Southern Durham High School and Fork Union Military Academy. . . All-conference selection three times. . . Triangle Lineman of the Year as a senior at Southern. . . Played in the Shrine Bowl and the East-West All-Star Game. . . A three-time all-conference baseball player at Southern. . . 14

Scott Stankavage
Quarterback
6-1, 197, Senior
Furlong, Pa.

Here's the Tar Heel quarterback and one of the key team leaders. . . Should give Carolina solid play at this position. . . A backup in his first three years, but has seen extensive action because of injuries to Rod Elkins. . . Has had perhaps the toughest job in football — that of being a number two quarterback. . . Was always one play away from running the team, but also knew he might not play at all. . . Has had to be ready every Saturday even though he knew he might not see action. . . Has learned from that to prepare himself mentally. . . Started six games last year because of injuries to Elkins and played most of the way in two others. . . Completed 78 of 158 passes for 1,124 yards and 11 touchdowns. . . Threw eight interceptions. . . Finished third in the Atlantic Coast Conference in passing efficiency and in touchdown passes. . . Was excellent at times last year. . . Tied Chris Kupec's school single-game record with four touchdown passes against N.C. State. . . Named ESPN's National Amateur Athlete of the Week for that performance. . . His TD passes covered 56, 30, 20 and 22 yards. . . Was 11 for 18 that day and gained 203 yards in the air. . . That's the most passing yardage a Carolina player has ever had against the Wolfpack. . . Returned to his backup role the following game as Elkins came back from an injury. . . Passed for 210 yards at Clemson and 207 against Bowling Green. . . Is the only Tar Heel quarterback ever to have three 200-yard passing games. . . Completed 16 passes against both Clemson and Virginia, attempting 31 in both games. . . Although he didn't have impressive statistics, he did a good job of running the Carolina offense under adverse weather conditions in the Sun Bowl. . .

Completed 45 of 85 passes in 1981 for 495 yards and three touchdowns. . . Played most of the way against South Carolina that year after Elkins turned an ankle early in the game. . . That was his first action in anything but a late relief role. . . Completed 16 of 35 passes that day for 181 yards and a touchdown. . . Started the next two games against Maryland and national champion Clemson. . . Went all the way against the Terps, completing 17 of 24 passes for 177 yards. . . It was his 20-yard touchdown pass to Tyrone Anthony with 1:20 to play that was the difference in Carolina's 17-10 victory. . . Like most opposing quarterbacks, he had problems with Clemson's rugged defense in his second start. . . Completed eight of 21 passes that day for 93 yards in a 10-8 loss. . . Came back from that disappointment to have a fine spring in 1982 and then stepped in again for Elkins last fall. . . Heads into his senior season as Carolina's 12th-leading all-time passer with 125 completions. . . Has now thrown for 1,642 yards and 14 touchdowns. . . Could finish second among the school's career leaders in completions, passing yardage and touchdown passes. . .

Goes into the new season after a solid showing in spring practice. . . A very positive person. . . Has learned a great deal from his up-and-down experiences. . . Has made a lot of progress in understanding a quarterback's role. . . Intelligent and a good decision maker. . . An excellent student of the game. . . Has a sound football mind. . . Knows what to do with the football. . . Doesn't have the greatest arm in college football, but does have a good one. . . However, his biggest asset may be his awareness of defenses. . . Very conscientious. . . A fine all-around athlete. . . Quarterback and safety at Central Bucks East High School. . . His team was 19-3-1 in games he started at quarterback, including 10-1 his senior year. . . All-league quarterback as a senior. . . All-state and Centenary All-America as a defensive back. . . Ran for 300 yards as a senior and passed for 1,065 more. . . Played in the Big 33 All-Star Classic. . . Fine high school basketball player. . . Excellent student majoring in business. . . Has been a member of the All-ACC Academic team for the last two years. . . Born July 5, 1962.

A good technician who picks up things quickly. . . Tough and aggressive. . . A competitor. . . Has good work habits. . . Needs to gain weight and has the determination to do so. . . Played tight end, linebacker and guard at Rippowam High School. . . Earned three letters in football and four in baseball. . . All-area and all-conference as a senior. . . Named to the all-state teams picked by the New Haven Register and the high school coaches association. . . Selected his team's MVP. . . Played on a state championship team as a junior. . . Good student enrolled in the general college at Carolina. . . Born April 23, 1964.

Wes Sweetser
Quarterback
6-3, 197, Sophomore
Camp Lejeune, N.C.

Non-scholarship player who ended spring practice as the team's number three quarterback. . . Did a good job on the scout team last fall. . . Needs to develop more consistency with his throwing and better accuracy. . . Also needs to be a little stronger. . . A hard worker. . . Dedicated and wants to improve. . . Lacks experience.

Eric Streater
Wide Receiver
5-11, 160, Freshman
Sylva, N.C.

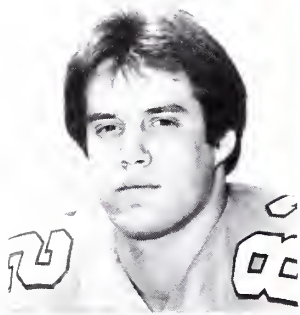

Red-shirted as a freshman last year. . . Had an excellent spring. . . Alternated at split end with Earl Winfield to bring in plays. . . Listed number two on the depth chart at that position. . . Expected to see considerable action. . . Very elusive. . . One of the team's most consistent receivers. . . Considering his size, has surprising toughness as a blocker. . . Has a great personality and is one of the team's most popular players. . . Led Sylva-Webster High to the class 2-A state championship in 1980 and to the Division II playoffs as a senior. . . Played quarterback and defensive back. . . Also handled his team's punting and kick returns. . . In his last two years at quarterback, completed 106 passes for 2,036 yards. . . Threw 10 TD passes each season and averaged 5.5 yards per rush. . . As a senior, returned two punts for touchdowns and an interception for another. . . Associated Press all-state selection. . . Centenary All-America. . . Named North Carolina's most outstanding 2-A athlete as a senior. . . Played in the Shrine Bowl. . . 82

Dave Truitt
Tight End
6-5, 220, Sophomore
Gaithersburg, Md.

Carolina's number two tight end behind Arnold Franklin. . . Saw spot action at this position last year, but did not catch a pass. . . The team's most improved receiver in spring practice. . . Most of that improvement came in his blocking. . . With Franklin sidelined much of the spring, Truitt got a lot of work and made good use of it. . . A tremendous pass catcher. . . Sure-handed. . . Makes the extraordinary catch. . . Has excellent speed for a tight end. . . That speed gives Carolina a lot of flexibility in its formations. . . Will get plenty of playing time this fall. . . Caught five touchdown passes as a tight end at Gaithersburg High. . . Also played defensive tackle there. . . All-metro, all-county and all-league. . . Won two letters in football and one each in basketball, baseball and track. . . His brother, Steve, was the starting center at Wake Forest in 1980 and 1981. . . In the general college at Carolina. . . Born February 18, 1964.

Why For a Wascot?

For almost 60 years the mascot of North Carolina's football team has been a ram. The current sideline star for the Tar Heels is Rameses IX.

Since Carolina's nickname is Tar Heels, it might seem strange to have a ram as a mascot. It is. But, there is a good explanation. It's offered by Vic Huggins, Carolina's head cheerleader back in 1924.

"In 1924 school spirit was at a peak," Huggins once explained. "But something seemed to be missing. One day it hit me. Georgia had a bulldog for a mascot and State a wolf. What Carolina needed was a symbol."

Two years earlier the Tar Heels had posted a brilliant 9-1 record. The star of that 1922 team was a bruising fullback named Jack Merritt. Merritt was nicknamed "the battering ram" for the way he plunged into lines. It seemed natural to Huggins to link a mascot with Merritt's unusual sobriquet.

"Charlie Woollen, the athletic business manager at that time, agreed with the idea and gave us $25 to purchase a fitting mascot," said Huggins.

Rameses the First was shipped in from Texas, arriving just in time to be introduced at a pep rally before the VMI game. Complete with a monogram blanket on his back, Rameses helped make that pep rally one of the school's greatest.

Then the ram was taken to Emerson Field where Carolina was an underdog to a strong VMI team. But, for three quarters the Tar Heels battled the visitors to a scoreless tie.

Late in the fourth period Carolina's Bunn Hackney was called upon to attempt a field goal. Before taking the field he stopped to rub Rameses' head for good luck.

Seconds later Hackney's 30-yard dropkick sailed between the goalposts, giving the Tar Heels a 3-0 victory and a legendary mascot.

From that November afternoon in 1924, the deeds and experiences of Rameses I and his successors have been the basis for countless anecdotes.

For instance, there was Rameses I making his first indoor appearance. Huggins was again the originator of the idea, the Tin Can was the scene and a basketball game was the event.

A theatrical debut with bright lights and a chorus was planned for the ram's introduction before a capacity audience. But when Rameses was led to midcourt at halftime, it became evident that he was not housebroken. In addition to being his first, that was also Rameses' last basketball game.

Tar Heel rams have traveled everywhere from New York City (for the Carolina-Notre Dame game in 1949) to Jacksonville for Carolina's Gator Bowl appearances.

Generally, the highlight of each season for Rameses is trying to outwit Duke students who always try to ram-nap him before the traditional big game with the Blue Devils.

Noting The Tar Heels

Only seven teams in the country have won more games than North Carolina over the last four years.

In that four-year period, Carolina has put together records of 8-3-1, 11-1, 10-2 and 8-4. That's a four-year total of 37-10-1.

The only teams who have won more games are Pittsburgh, Nebraska, Georgia, Alabama, Penn State, Ohio State and Washington. Here are the winningest teams in the country over the last four seasons:

1. Pittsburgh (42-6)
2. Nebraska (41-8)
3. Georgia (39-8)
Alabama (39-8-1)
Penn State (39-9)
6. Ohio State (38-10)
Washington (38-10)
8. North Carolina (37-10-1)
9. Southern California (36-8-2)
Florida State (36-11)
Oklahoma (36-11-1)

Carolina has now finished in the Top 20 of the national wire service polls for four straight seasons. The Tar Heels were 13th in the final United Press International coaches' poll last season and 18th in the last Associated Press poll of writers and broadcasters.

In 1981, Carolina was eighth in the UPI poll and ninth in the AP rankings; in 1980, the Tar Heels were ninth in UPI and 10th in AP, and in 1979, Carolina was 14th in UPI and 15th in AP.

When Carolina toppled Texas, 26-10, in the Sun Bowl last December, it ran the Tar Heels' bowl winning streak to four games. Carolina and Penn State have the longest current bowl winning streaks in the country. Carolina is also the first Atlantic Coast Conference team ever to win four bowl games in a row.

The Tar Heels had beaten Arkansas, 31-27, in the 1981 Gator Bowl; Texas, 16-7, in the 1980 Bluebonnet Bowl; and Michigan, 17-15, in the 1979 Gator Bowl.

Carolina earned six spots on the 1982 All-Atlantic Coast Conference team selected by the Atlantic Coast Sports Writers Association and six on the All-ACC team picked by the Associated Press.

Offensive guard David Drechsler, defensive tackle William Fuller, strong safety Willie Harris, outside linebacker Mike Wilcher and offensive guard Ron Spruill were named to both teams. Linebacker Chris Ward was on the ACSWA team and tailback Kelvin Bryant was on the AP team.

Dick Crum now has a career record of 76-26-2. That's a winning percentage of .740. He ranks fifth among active coaches in winning percentage.

Carolina set a school record for total offense last year with 4,768 yards. The Tar Heels averaged 433.5 yards per game.

Carolina led the Atlantic Coast Conference in total defense, scoring defense, pass defense and rushing offense. The Tar Heels were second in the league in scoring and total offense and third in rushing defense.

Nationally, Carolina finished second in total defense (giving up just 236.5 yards a game), sixth in scoring defense, sixth in pass defense, sixth in total offense, 12th in rushing and 12th in rushing defense.

When offensive guard David Drechsler was named to the All-America teams picked by the Football Writers Association of America, the Walter Camp Foundation and the Football News last season, he became the first Tar Heel player to make first-team All-America in back-to-back years since Charlie Justice and Art Weiner in 1948 and 1949.

Drechsler had also been a first-team selection by the FWAA in 1981. In addition to his first-team honors last fall, he was also a second-team All-America choice by the Associated Press and United Press International. He was chosen in the second round of the NFL draft last spring by the Green Bay Packers.

William Fuller, senior defensive tackle on this year's Carolina team, joined Drechsler as a first-team All-America last fall. He was a first-team selection by the FWAA and the Football News and a second-team choice by the Associated Press.

When Kelvin Bryant rushed for 1,064 yards last season, it marked the 10th consecutive year in which a Tar Heel runner has reached the 1,000-yard plateau.

This amazing streak of 1,000-yard rushers was started by Sammy Johnson in 1973 with 1,006 yards. Mike Voight and James Bettersen each reached that figure in 1974 and Voight did it again in 1975 and 1976. Amos Lawrence had 1,000 yards in 1977, 1978, 1979 and 1980 and Bryant reached that total in each of the past three seasons.

Carolina and Southern California have each had fourteen 1,000-yard rushers in their football histories. No other school has ever had more.

When Ethan Horton was named the most valuable player in last December's Sun Bowl, it marked the second straight bowl game in which he had taken MVP honors. Horton was named the game's MVP by members of the media in attendance after rushing for 119 yards in the second half and sparking a 26-10 come-from-behind victory over Texas.

Horton and Kelvin Bryant were co-MVPs in Carolina's 31-27 Gator Bowl win over Arkansas in 1981. Horton rushed for 144 yards in that game against the Razorbacks.

CBS, which televised the Sun Bowl game nationally last year, picked tri-MVPs. Selected along with Horton were Tar Heel place-kickers Brooks Barwick and Rob Rogers, each of whom made two field goals.

Brooks Barwick set school single-season records last year for field goals and field goal accuracy. Barwick's 20 field goals broke Tom Biddle's old school record of 15. His accuracy mark (.870 on 20 of 23) easily broke Biddle's old mark of .722. Barwick also tied a school record with four field goals in a single game against Bowling Green.

Barwick ended the season with 13 consecutive successful field goals, another school mark. He finished 11th in the country in scoring with 97 points and was seventh in field goals.

Two Carolina players were selected in the second round of the NFL draft last spring — All-America offensive guard David Drechsler by the Green Bay Packers and All-Atlantic Coast Conference outside linebacker Mike Wilcher by the Los Angeles Rams.

Tailback Kelvin Bryant signed a contract with the Philadelphia Stars of the USFL as a territorial selection before the NFL draft.

Ethan Horton (12) picks up Sun Bowl yardage.

Chancellor Christopher Fordham

In the four years that Dr. Christopher C. Fordham III has been chancellor, the University of North Carolina and its reputation for excellence in academics, research and service have flourished.

The recently published report of the National Academy of Sciences and other similar and dissimilar documents have placed the University among the top two dozen colleges and universities nationally and among the top two or three — if not number one — in the South or Southeast. The University has been measured by its reputation among peers, the productivity of its faculty and graduates and its success in attracting federal and other outside funds for research and programs.

When Fordham was named chancellor, the Greensboro Daily News and Record reported that he saw his role as fostering continued excellence at a public school where the best in faculty and facilities were available to those of modest means. He sees that job in much the same light today, and Carolina's achievements under its sixth chancellor are indications that Fordham is succeeding in that role.

Fordham has called the undergraduate curriculum at Chapel Hill the core of the University. His commitment to undergraduate education has been apparent in his efforts to improve the curriculum through a series of changes — now being implemented — that strengthen mathematics and foreign language skills, and to impress upon students the importance of the liberal arts tradition.

He also has championed the cause of the public schools and guided the University to a leadership role in working to improve public education. The Lyndhurst Fellowship Program, which supports bright students who will be the best teachers of the future, and other innovative programs have received his special attention.

Fordham's devotion to his alma mater runs deep. He gave up a private medical practice in his native Greensboro to take his first position on the medical school faculty, beginning almost a quarter century of service to the University and the state. He also has been dean of the School of Medicine and vice chancellor for health affairs, the position he gave up to become chancellor.

The School of Medicine made substantial advances during Fordham's deanship. The programs were expanded, faculty strengthened and minority enrollment increased, and the school gained national prominence for its excellence and creativity.

In his tenure, the School of Medicine initiated a statewide regional education program — the Area Health Education Centers program — that has achieved international recognition as an educational approach to improving the distribution of physicians and other health professionals.

In all his administrative positions, a striving to reach consensus has characterized Fordham's management style. Before making decisions, he has sought input from concerned parties. He has not been afraid to delegate responsibility, and he has left fellow administrators a great deal of freedom to interpret his decisions. These qualities have won Fordham the support of faculty members and administrators alike.

A Greensboro native, Fordham comes from a family with long-held ties to Chapel Hill. He, his wife, their children, his father and his uncles all attended the University.

He received his M.D. degree from Harvard Medical School in 1951 and first joined the Carolina faculty in 1958. In 1969 he left Chapel Hill to become vice president for medicine and dean of the School of Medicine at the Medical College of Georgia, but he returned to Carolina in 1971 as professor of medicine and dean of the School of Medicine.

"When one's University calls, it's a very magnetic pull," he later said of his decision to return to his alma mater.

In his professional life, Fordham has held a wide variety of prestigious positions at the University and on the regional and national levels.

He is a former member of the executive council of the Association of American Medical Colleges and a past chairman of the AAMC and the National Council of Deans and Southern Regional Deans.

A member of the National Academy of Sciences and its Institute of Medicine, Fordham also is a diplomate of the American Board of Internal Medicine, a distinguished service member of the AAMC, a fellow of the American College of Physicians and a member of the medical honorary, Alpha Omega Alpha.

He has been given distinguished service awards by both the N.C. Hospital Association and the N.C. Academy of General Dentistry.

At the University, he is a member of the Central Selection Committee of the John Motley Morehead Foundation and he has been honored by induction into the Order of the Golden Fleece.

He is an accomplished researcher and has written widely on health policy. He is the author of one book and numerous articles published in scholarly and professional journals.

Fordham is married to the former Barbara Byrd of Greensboro, and they have three daughters, Pamela Fordham Richey of New Bern, Susan Fordham Crowell of Chapel Hill and Betsy Fordham Templeton of Nashville, Tenn.

Athletic Director John Swofford

In just three years as director of athletics at the University of North Carolina, John Swofford has established himself as one of the most respected administrators in intercollegiate sports.

Although Swofford is beginning just his fourth year in charge of the Tar Heel athletic program, he has already been a part of some of the greatest moments in the school's storied sports history.

In his short time as athletic director, Swofford has seen Carolina teams win five national collegiate team championships — one in basketball and two each in lacrosse and women's soccer. The Tar Heel football team has won three straight bowl games and Carolina has finished in the Top 20 in both football and basketball in each of Swofford's three years on the job. Carolina has also either won or tied for first place in the race for the Carmichael Cup, symbolic of overall athletic excellence in the Atlantic Coast Conference, for the past three years.

Swofford's first three years as athletic director have been busy off the field, too. Carolina has conducted a $30,000,000 fund-raising drive to construct a student activities center which will include a 22,000-seat basketball arena; Boshamer Stadium was expanded and dressing rooms renovated for the Tar Heel baseball team; three new holes were constructed at Finley Golf Course; the University hosted the ACC Baseball Tournament three times and an NCAA regional tournament once; Carolina has hosted the NCAA Golf Championship, the AIAW National Soccer Tournament and the AIAW National Softball Tournament; the academic support staff has been expanded; and a new five-year radio contract was signed with Village Companies of Chapel Hill.

His fine work in Chapel Hill got Swofford a spot on the NCAA Football Television Committee last year. That committee and the Division I Basketball Committee are generally regarded as the two most important in the NCAA organization. Swofford is serving on the committee as it tackles one of the biggest problems ever to face the NCAA — how to settle the dispute over football television rights.

These accomplishments are a good indication Swofford is well aware of the problems facing intercollegiate athletics and how to cope with them. But Chancellor Christopher Fordam knew that when he named him to replace Bill Cobey as athletic director on May 1, 1980. Cobey had resigned to pursue public office.

Swofford gives the credit for Carolina's recent successes to the people around him.

"We have an outstanding coaching, administrative and clerical staff, and with their help, our primary goal will be to continue the tradition of integrity and excellence that has been the trademark of Carolina athletics," he says. "Our athletic program is a part of a great university. It is a special place and we will strive to reflect her values and character."

"We will continue our commitment to a strong overall program and we will continually strive to operate on the principle that the student-athletes who are participants in our various sports are our greatest assets. We must be committed to their positive development as individuals while they are a part of our athletic program."

A native of North Wilkesboro, N.C., Swofford first came to Carolina as a Morehead Scholar in 1967. He graduated in 1971 with an A.B. in psychology and industrial relations.

He played quarterback and defensive back on Tar Heel football teams in 1969, 1970 and 1971. Those last two teams went to the Peach Bowl and Gator Bowl. He tied a then-school record against Vanderbilt in 1969 by throwing three touchdown passes in one game.

Swofford was named to the ACC Academic Honor Roll and Who's Who in College Athletics. He also served as president of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes on campus.

In 1973 he earned a masters in athletic administration at Ohio University. In his time there Swofford served as a graduate assistant to the assistant business manager of athletics.

From 1973 to 1976 he was athletic ticket manager and assistant to the director of athletic facilities and finance at the University of Virginia. His duties in that job included directing all ticket sales, advertising and promotions. He also handled game contract settlements, stadium and coliseum operations and team travel arrangements.

He returned to Carolina in May, 1976 as assistant athletic director and business manager, handling all the athletic department's business affairs. Among his many other responsibilities were handling fund-raising affairs, team travel and the athletic dining hall. He also coordinated sports camps.

Although he remained assistant athletic director, Swofford dropped the business manager title and was named assistant executive vice-president of the Educational Foundation in January, 1979. In that job he was in charge of the overall financial structure of the athletic department. His position with the Educational Foundation involved general office procedures, membership services and fund-raising.

Swofford is a member of the National Association of Collegiate Athletic Directors and is on the Board of Directors of the Ohio University Athletic Administration Program. He is a member of the Board of Directors of North Carolina National Bank in Chapel Hill and the Board of Directors of The Village Companies Foundation. He serves on the ACC television, football and basketball committees.

A regular jogger, Swofford enjoys reading and tennis. He is married to the former Becky Owens of North Wilkesboro. They have two children, Autumn and Chad.

Head Coach Dick Crum

The head football coach at the University of North Carolina is Dick Crum, a man with one of the best records in the game today.

Crum, heading into his 10th season as a college head coach, has a career record of 76-26-2. That's a winning percentage of .740 and is the fifth best among the top coaches in the game.

In the last four seasons Crum's Tar Heel teams have posted records of 8-3-1, 11-1, 10-2 and 8-4. Those 29 wins in the last three years are more than have ever been compiled by any Atlantic Coast Conference team in a similar period of time. Carolina's 11-1 record in 1980 equalled the winningest season in school history.

Under Crum, Carolina has finished in the Top 20 of the national wire service polls each of the past four years. The Tar Heels were 13th and 15th in the final 1979 rankings, ninth and 10th in 1980, eighth and ninth in 1981 and 13th and 18th in 1982. Crum is the only coach in ACC history to have a team finish in the Top 10 of both polls for two straight years.

Carolina's 26-10 victory over Texas in last year's Sun Bowl marked the Tar Heels' fourth straight bowl win under Crum. No other coach in ACC history has ever won more than two straight bowl games. Penn State's Joe Paterno is the only other coach to have posted bowl victories in each of the past four years.

Bowl wins are certainly nothing new for Crum, however. Counting two victories at Miami of Ohio, he has a perfect 6-0 record in bowl competition.

But, that's to be expected. Over the years Crum's teams have had a history of being well-prepared and ready to play in the really big games. At Miami, he guided the Redskins to numerous victories over more highly-regarded opponents. In his time at Carolina, Crum has helped the Tar Heels score impressive wins over Pittsburgh, Michigan, South Carolina, Texas and Arkansas.

"Dick Crum is an outstanding coach," says Carolina Athletic Director John Swofford, "and an outstanding person as well. He has an excellent perspective of what intercollegiate football should be at an institution like Carolina. He's a credit to the game and to the University."

Crum, 49, became the Tar Heel coach in January, 1978. He replaced Bill Dooley who had resigned to become athletic director and head football coach at Virginia Tech. Prior to coming to Chapel Hill, Crum had been the head coach at Miami for four seasons, posting a 34-10-1 record.

In announcing the selection of Crum as Dooley's replacement, Carolina Chancellor Ferebee Taylor said, "Dick Crum was the unanimous choice of our nominating committee to be the new football coach."

"Coach Crum's outstanding record at Miami University speaks for itself and we are confident that, under his leadership, our football program will continue to maintain Carolina's high standards of excellence."

It has done just that. Crum got off to a rough start as his first Tar Heel team suffered a disappointing 5-6 season in 1978. The problems of players adjusting to a new coaching staff and an assortment of injuries were the major reasons for that losing mark. However, Crum quickly brought Carolina back to national prominence.

His 1979 team had the best record in the ACC, going 8-3-1. The Tar Heels were the only team in the country to defeat Pittsburgh that year and toppled Michigan, 17-15, in the Gator Bowl.

That was followed by an 11-1 campaign in 1980. The Tar Heels won the ACC championship and led the league in scoring, scoring defense, total offense, total defense and rushing offense. Crum was ACC and District Three Coach of the Year. Carolina whipped Texas, 16-7, in the Bluebonnet Bowl.

The Tar Heels then went 10-2 in 1981, leading the ACC in total offense, rushing offense, scoring and net punting. Carolina climbed to as high as third in the national polls during the season, the highest the Tar Heels had been since 1948. Carolina capped the year with a 31-27 triumph over Arkansas in the Gator Bowl.

Then came last fall's 8-4 season. The Tar Heels set school records for total offense and passing yardage and led the ACC in total defense, scoring defense, pass defense and rushing offense. Carolina finished second in the nation in total defense and sixth in total offense.

Crum has had five first-team All-America selections in the last three seasons — outside linebacker Lawrence Taylor and offensive guard Ron Wooten in 1980, offensive guard David Drechsler in 1981 and Drechsler and defensive tackle William Fuller in 1982. Taylor was the ACC Player of the Year in 1980 and has been the NFL Defensive Player of the Year for the past two seasons.

In his five years at Carolina, Crum has produced six 1,000-yard rushers. Tar Heel quarterbacks have led the ACC in passing two of the past four seasons. Carolina has scored more points and gained more yardage than any other ACC team in the last four years.

Ironically, Crum is best known for his defensive philosophies. And he still says defense will be the key to Carolina's football success.

"I think you win championships with good defensive teams," he says. "Fundamentals are also so important in football. If you play fundamental and sound football and don't make mistakes, you're going to win a lot of games."

Crum certainly plans on winning a lot more games at Carolina. Those who have gotten to know him in his time here have no doubt about that.

"Coach Crum is building one of the best programs in the country here," says one of his former players. "The thing I like about him is he's a player's coach. The players come first to him. He's really interested in doing anything he can for us, whether it relates to football or not."

One reason for Crum's good rapport with his young players may be his 12 years of experience as a high school coach. He considers those years great preparation for his college coaching career.

A native of Youngstown, Ohio, Crum attended Boardman High School and then enrolled at Muskingum College. He later transferred to Mount Union College where he received his B.S. degree in 1957, majoring in mathematics with a minor in physics. He also holds an M.Sc. from Western Reserve.

In football, Crum was a non-scholarship halfback. He saw most of his action with the B team and it was there he learned of the great importance of fundamentals.

The first six years of his coaching career were spent as an assistant at Boardman High, Sandusky High and Warren Harding High, all in Ohio.

Crum accepted his first head coaching position in 1963 at Mentor High School in Mentor, Ohio. He compiled a six-year record of 50-9-1, winning three league championships. His record in his last four seasons there was 38-2.

He joined Bill Mallory's Miami staff as defensive backfield coach in 1969.

He was appointed defensive coordinator in 1970 and held that position for four years. While he was defensive coordinator his teams ranked third, fifth, sixth and first in the nation in total defense. The Redskins also topped the nation in rushing defense in 1973.

When Mallory left Miami to become head coach at Colorado after the 1973 season, Crum was named his successor. He won three Mid-American Conference championships in four years there and twice took teams to the Tangerine Bowl. The Redskins defeated Georgia, 21-10, in 1974 and South Carolina, 20-7, in 1975 in those post-season appearances.

Crum's Miami teams had records of 10-0-1 in 1974, 11-1 in 1975, 3-8 in 1976 and 10-1 in 1977.

In his only losing season at Miami, the Redskins lost nine of their 11 starting defensive players in their first two games. After an 0-6 start, however, Crum rallied his team to three wins in its final five games. The Redskins then capped that comeback by going 10-1 in 1977, coming from behind eight times to win.

Miami is known as the "cradle of coaches." Other former coaches at the Oxford school include Woody Hayes, Ara Parseghian, John Pont, Bo Schembechler and Mallory.

Like all those men Crum was extremely successful at Miami. He was selected Ohio Coach of the Year in 1974 and 1975, MAC Coach of the Year in 1974 and District Five Coach of the Year in 1974 and 1977. His 1974 squad finished the season ranked 10th in the wire service polls, the highest rating of any team in MAC history. His three MAC championships are the most ever won by a Redskin coach.

Twice Crum was selected to serve as head coach in the Ohio Shrine Bowl Game. He has also been on coaching staffs in the All-America Bowl and the Coaches' All-America Game. He has served on several committees of the American Football Coaches Association and is currently a member of the AFCA's board of trustees.

While at Miami, Crum had been considered for other head coaching jobs. However, he had always asked that his name be withdrawn from consideration.

"I had been interviewed at other schools," he says, "but I always left those meetings with very mixed feelings and emotions. After I interviewed at Carolina, I had no such qualms. On the plane ride back to Ohio I told my wife, 'If they offer me the job, I'm going to accept.'"

"The thing that influenced me more than anything else is the fact that Carolina is an excellent academic institution as well as a home of great athletics."

In his spare time Crum enjoys fishing and the outdoors in general. Each summer his family takes a two-to-four week fishing trip to Canada. Their vacation spot is in an area just north of North Bay.

Crum also has a great interest in flying. He obtained his pilot's license in the summer of 1980.

Dick is married to the former Shirley Moncur of Delaware, Ohio. She is an Ohio University graduate with degrees in physical education and library science. They have three sons — Mike, 20, and twins, Jeff and Joel, 18.

Football Staff

Bobby Cale (Offensive Backs)

Coaching the Carolina running backs is Bobby Cale, a former star Tar Heel player.

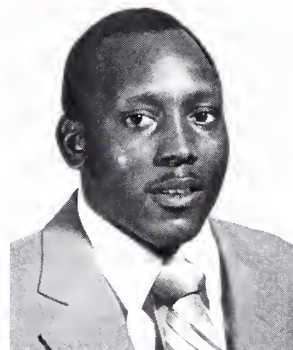

Cale is heading into his second season on the job. He had worked on the Carolina staff for two years as a graduate and part-time assistant before being named a full-time coach in the spring of 1982.

A native of Wilmington, Del., Cale was a four-year starter at cornerback during his playing days in Chapel Hill. He led the Atlantic Coast Conference in interceptions in 1976 with five. He finished his career with 12 interceptions, tying him for second place on the school's all-time interception list.

After graduating in 1979, Cale signed a free agent contract with the Seattle Seahawks. He returned to Carolina that fall to serve as a graduate assistant under Dick Crum.

Cale then spent one year in private business before returning as a part-time assistant on Crum's 1981 staff. He was elevated to a full-time post after Cleve Bryant resigned to join the New England Patriots' staff.

Cale is a bachelor.

Bobby Elliott (Receivers)

One of Carolina's two new staff members is Bobby Elliott who will coach the Tar Heel receivers this fall.

Elliott came to Carolina last February. He replaced Jack Himebauch who was named the school's director of recruiting services.

A native of Iowa City, Iowa, Elliott was a two-time Academic All-America defensive back at the University of Iowa in 1974 and 1975. A history major with a 3.8 grade point average, Elliott was awarded post-graduate scholarships by both the NCAA and the National Football Foundation.

He began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at Iowa in 1976 and then served as defensive backfield coach at Kent State in 1977. In 1978 Elliott moved to Ball State where he coordinated the defense and coached the secondary.

For the last three years Elliott has coached defensive backs at Iowa State. He worked at N.C. State briefly last winter before coming to Chapel Hill.

Elliott is the son of Bump Elliott, the former head football coach at Michigan and currently the director of athletics at Iowa.

Bobby and his wife, Joey, have a son, Grant.

Dale Evans (Defensive Backs)

Dale Evans, who coached against Carolina while at Texas Tech and South Carolina, has joined the Tar Heel staff as defensive backfield coach.

Evans replaced Larry Marmie last February. Marmie had resigned to become defensive coordinator at Tennessee.

Evans came to Chapel Hill from the University of Colorado. He was defensive coordinator there last year and also worked with the Buffaloes' inside linebackers.

A native of Pierce, W. Va., Evans attended the University of West Virginia where he received his undergraduate and master's degrees. A walk-on football player, he was the Mountaineers' starting quarterback and free safety for two seasons.

He began his coaching career as head coach at Sisterville High School in Sisterville, W. Va. He coached there in 1963 and 1964 before becoming an assistant at Salem College in West Virginia for two years. He then served as head coach there for one season before taking the job of freshman coach at West Virginia.

After two years at West Virginia, Evans spent four seasons at Texas Tech and eight at South Carolina. He worked with the secondary all 12 of those years before going to Colorado last season.

Evans and his wife, Joann, have two sons, Kelly and Tracy. Tracy is currently a junior outside linebacker at South Carolina.

Mel Foels (Outside Linebackers)

Heading into his fourth season on the Carolina staff is Mel Foels, coach of the Tar Heel outside linebackers.

Foels, a native of Toledo, Ohio, is a graduate of Bowling Green where he was an all-conference guard in 1964. An honorable mention academic All-America, Foels received his B.S. in biology and physical education in 1965 and earned his master's in physical education from Bowling Green in 1966.

Mel was head football and wrestling coach at Iowa Wesleyan from 1966 to 1973 and was three times named conference coach of the year. He served as an assistant coach at Iowa in 1973 and at Eastern Kentucky from 1974 to 1976 before joining the Tulsa staff in 1977.

Foels coached the Golden Hurricanes' linebackers for three years and also served as defensive coordinator in 1979. He came to Carolina prior to the 1980 season. In three seasons he has produced three high NFL draft choices — Lawrence Taylor, Calvin Daniels and Mike Wilcher. Taylor was a consensus All-America in 1980 and the Atlantic Coast Conference Player of the Year.

Mel and his wife, Dawn, have two daughters, Tracie Lyn and Michelle Denise.

Denny Marcini (Defensive Coordinator and Linebackers)

Denny Marcini is beginning his sixth year as coordinator of Carolina's defense.

In addition to running the entire defense, Marcini also works specifically with the Tar Heel linebackers. He has coached an All-Atlantic Coast Conference player in each of the past four seasons — Buddy Curry, Darrell Nicholson, Lee Shaffer and Chris Ward.

A native of Cleveland, Ohio, Marcini was a two-way guard at Miami University. He received all-conference honorable mention his senior year.

After graduating in 1964, he served as an assistant football coach at Lakewood St. Edward High School for eight years. He then was head coach there for two seasons and had an overall record of 17-2-1. He also was baseball coach for eight years.

Marcini returned to Miami in 1974 to coach the offensive guards and centers. He was named the Redskins' defensive coordinator in 1977 and assumed that same position when he joined Dick Crum at Carolina five years ago. Last season the Tar Heels were second in the nation in total defense, 12th in rushing defense and sixth in both pass and scoring defense.

In addition to football, Marcini also enjoys wrestling and has officiated on the high school, college and professional levels.

He and his wife, Betsey, have four children — Jeff, Denny, Melinda and Susie.

John Matsko (Offensive Coordinator and Offensive Linemen)

Running the Carolina offense is John Matsko, who has learned his trade from two of the finest coaches in college football.

Matsko played and coached for Don James at Kent State and is beginning his ninth year as an assistant to Dick Crum. James, of course, has had great success at the University of Washington and Crum has one of the best records in the game.

A native of Mentor, Ohio, Matsko played for Crum in high school. He then attended Kent State and was the starting fullback for the Golden Flashes in 1972 when they won the Mid-American Conference championship and went to the Tangerine Bowl. He coached there for one season as a student assistant.

Matsko then spent two years as a graduate assistant for Crum at Miami University. He coached at Danbury High School for one year before returning to Miami in 1977. He came with Crum to Carolina in 1978.

Last year the Tar Heels finished sixth nationally in total offense, setting a school record with 4,768 yards.

In addition to being offensive coordinator, Matsko also coaches the Tar Heel offensive line. He has produced an All-America in each of the past three seasons — Ron Wooten in 1980 and David Drechsler in 1981 and 1982.

John and his wife, Kim, have two daughters, Marie and Elizabeth, and a son, John.

Chuck Priefer (Defensive Linemen)

Chuck Priefer is heading into his fifth season as coach of the Tar Heel defensive tackles and nose guards.

A 1963 graduate of John Carroll University, Priefer coached the defensive secondary in 1978, his first season in Chapel Hill. He was moved to the defensive front after that season. Priefer had coached the defensive line at Miami University in 1977 when the Redskins were 10-1.

Three of Priefer's former Tar Heel players are now in the National Football League. His star player of last season, tackle William Fuller, earned first-team All-America honors.

A native of Parma, Ohio, Priefer started his coaching career as an assistant in football, basketball and baseball at Padua Franciscan High School in 1963. He became head baseball coach in 1965 and assistant athletic director in 1966. His eight-year baseball record was 151-59.

He served as head football coach from 1972 to 1976, compiling a 34-15 record. He then joined Dick Crum's Miami staff and came with him to Carolina in 1978.

Priefer enjoys good movies, tennis and poker.

He and his wife, Sheila, have four children — Mike, Teri, Jenny and Megan.

Randy Walker (Quarterbacks)

Carolina's quarterbacks will be coached by Randy Walker, who is beginning his sixth year on the Tar Heel staff.

Walker worked with Carolina running backs in his first four seasons here before taking responsibility for the quarterbacks last fall. In his first year with the signal-callers, the Tar Heels set a school single-season passing record.

A 1976 Miami graduate, Walker played on Redskin teams which compiled a 32-1-1 record. His teams won three straight Mid-American Conference championships and three consecutive Tangerine Bowl titles.

Randy finished his playing career as the sixth-leading rusher in Miami history. He was selected the team's most valuable player in his senior year after playing tailback, fullback and wingback at different times during the season.

A native of Troy, Ohio, Walker was drafted by the Cincinnati Bengals after graduation. He worked for Dick Crum at Miami as a graduate assistant in 1976 and became a full-time staff member in 1977 as the Redskins went 10-1. He joined Crum at Carolina in January, 1978.

In his four years of coaching the Tar Heel running backs, Walker worked with five 1,000-yard rushers.

Walker and his wife, Tammy, have a special interest in music. They have a daughter, Abbey, and a son, Jamie.

Jack Himebauch (Director of Recruiting Services)

Jack Himebauch, an assistant coach to Dick Crum for 10 years, is Carolina's new director of recruiting services.

Himebauch replaced Charlie Carr in this job last spring when Carr was named assistant athletic director. Himebauch will coordinate all of Carolina's football recruiting, assist coaches of non-revenue sports in recruiting and perform other administrative duties assigned by the director of athletics.

A native of Rocky River, Ohio, Himebauch earned three letters as a tight end at Miami University under John Pont and Bo Schembechler. He led the Redskins in receptions in both 1963 and 1964. Himebauch had a career total of 43 catches for 614 yards and six touchdowns.

After graduating in 1965, Himebauch was an assistant coach for Crum at Mentor High School for four years. He then spent six seasons as an assistant coach at Darien High School in Connecticut.

Himebauch was an assistant at Fordham University in 1976 before returning to Miami and Crum's staff there in 1977. He then came with Crum to Chapel Hill in 1978. During his college coaching career he worked with defensive linemen, offensive linemen and receivers.

Jack and his wife, Cheryl, have three sons — Chris, Curt and Jonathan.

Mike Marks (Athletic Fitness Director)

Carolina's athletic fitness director is Mike Marks, who is now in his second year on the job in Chapel Hill.

Marks' major responsibility is to develop strength and conditioning programs for all Tar Heel athletic teams.

A native of Richardson, Tex., Marks worked at the University of Alabama for seven years prior to coming to Carolina. In his first four years at Tuscaloosa, he served as assistant track coach. During his last five years there he supervised the strength and conditioning programs for all Crimson Tide athletes.

While Marks was a member of Bear Bryant's staff, Alabama won two national football championships. Mike also coached six track and field All-Americans there, including an NCAA champion in the shot put.

Marks is a 1974 graduate of Oklahoma State where he played football and participated in track. He was a two-time Big Eight champion in the shot and a two-time NCAA finalist in that event.

Mike is married to the former Lee Branch.

Phil Ben (Academic Counselor)

Phil Ben is now in his second year as academic counselor for Carolina's football team.

In that role Ben closely follows the classroom progress of the Tar Heel players and offers suggestions, advice and counsel about different aspects of their academic work.

Ben has been involved with the Carolina athletic program since 1972 when he started work as a tutor in the department. Phil is a 1974 Tar Heel graduate with an A.B. in journalism. He has also done graduate work in both journalism and education and has taken part in the School of Business Administration's University Management Development Program.

In addition to his work in the Athletic Department, Ben is also a contributing writer to the University Report and the Alumni Review, publications of the General Alumni Association. He has authored a book on Atlantic Coast Conference basketball and has written a syndicated newspaper column on college football.

Phil and his wife, Stephanie, are members of the Chapel Hill Preservation Society and the North Carolina Preservation Society.

John Lacey (Head Trainer)

John Lacey, one of the most honored men in his field, heads an outstanding staff of athletic trainers at Carolina.

Lacey, beginning his 28th year in Chapel Hill, devotes all his attention to the Tar Heel football team. He has worked with 14 bowl teams, 11 of them at Carolina.

One of his greatest honors came in 1972 when he was named head trainer for the United States delegation to the Olympic Games in Munich. He had served as trainer of the U.S. basketball team in the 1964 games at Tokyo.

In 1977 he was named to the athletic trainers' section of the Citizen Savings (Helms) Hall of Fame.

A native of Wallingford, Conn., Lacey studied at the Yale University Department of Physical Therapy and at the Tilton School in Tilton, N.H. He came to Carolina from Maryland when the late Jim Tatum was named head football coach here in 1956. While at Maryland, he had served teams which won national championships in football and lacrosse.

He was also trainer of the 1957 Carolina basketball team which won the NCAA title. His background includes stints with three professional football teams — the Chicago Rockets, New York Yankees and Baltimore Colts.

Lacey is married to the former Barbara Koch of Wallingford.

Rick Brewer (Sports Information Director)

Rick Brewer is beginning his 16th year in the Carolina Sports Information Office and his ninth as its director.

A native of Winston-Salem, N.C., Brewer is a 1971 Carolina graduate with a B.A. in journalism.

He first served as a student assistant in the sports information office for three years and was named the school's first assistant SID upon graduation. He held that position for four years and then was named sports information director in 1975.

In his eight years as SID, Brewer has won publication awards from CoSIDA (College Sports Information Directors of America) for his football brochure, football game program, basketball brochure, basketball game program, tennis brochure, golf brochure and a recruiting brochure for women.

He is a member of CoSIDA, the Football Writers Association of America, the U.S. Basketball Writers Association and the Atlantic Coast Sports Writers Association. In 1982 he handled press arrangements at the NCAA Golf Championships in Pinehurst. Later that summer he served as a press officer at the U.S. Olympic Committee's National Sports Festival in Indianapolis.

Brewer is a bachelor.

Dave Lohse (Assistant Sports Information Director)

Dave Lohse is beginning his fifth year as assistant sports information director at Carolina.

Lohse is a 1977 graduate of Purdue University where he was a member of Phi Beta Kappa. He worked in the Boilermaker Sports Information Office for three years as a student assistant.

Lohse then spent two years as a graduate assistant in the Carolina Sports Information Office before being named assistant SID in August, 1979. Although his major responsibilities at Carolina involve non-revenue sports, Dave also assists with the publicizing of Carolina's football team.

Several of Lohse's non-revenue sports publications have won national awards from CoSIDA (College Sports Information Directors of America). He has handled publicity for four national championship teams at Carolina, two in lacrosse and two in women's soccer.

A native of Griffith, Ind., Lohse is a member of CoSIDA, the Football Writers Association of America, the U.S. Basketball Writers Association and the Atlantic Coast Sports Writers Association.

Lohse is a bachelor.

Monty Woods (Assistant Sports Information Director)

Monty Woods is heading into his third year in the Carolina Sports Information Office and his second as a full-time staff member.

Woods first came to Carolina in the fall of 1981 as an intern for the sports information office. His internship was the completion of his master of science degree in athletic administration from Ohio University. He was named an assistant SID the following spring.

Woods is a 1980 graduate of West Virginia Tech where he worked as sports information director as a student. He won national awards from CoSIDA (College Sports Information Directors of America) for his football and basketball publications in 1979 and 1980.

In his time at Carolina, Woods has coordinated media arrangements for two Atlantic Coast Conference baseball tournaments, last spring's NCAA East Regional Baseball Tournament and the 1982 AIAW National Slow-Pitch Softball Tournament. His major responsibilities in Chapel Hill concern non-revenue sports, but he also assists with the publicizing of Carolina's football and basketball teams.

Woods, a bachelor, is a member of CoSIDA, the National Collegiate Baseball Writers Association, the Atlantic Coast Sports Writers Association and the Society for American Baseball Research.

The University

A beautiful campus has done much to earn for the University of North Carolina the name "Southern part of Heaven," but the University's renown for exterior splendor long has been equaled by its reputation as one of the world's foremost academic and research institutions.

The 1982 "New York Times Selective Guide to Colleges" reports that, "UNC looks like a college campus with football-field size quads and tree-lined walks," but the guide also praises the University for its academic excellence, awarding its highest rating for academics.

Other reports during 1982 and 1983 have agreed.

In a comprehensive evaluation report published by the National Academy of Sciences, the University was ranked as one of the foremost graduate and research institutions in the nation. In the South, Carolina consistently ranked at or near the very top.

In the humanities, Carolina's ranking was the best in the region, with programs in art history, classics, music and philosophy all ranked first. The program in German was rated second, and Spanish tied for third.

In the behavioral and social sciences, Carolina ranked first in the Southeast in both political science and sociology and was second in history and psychology.

The University had the top-rated math and physical science programs in biostatistics, statistics and chemistry, placed second in computer science and tied for second in math and geology in the region. All of Carolina's programs in the biological sciences were ranked in the top 25 percent nationally.

"For those who are alumni of the University, these studies are another indication of the preeminence of your faculty in the southeastern United States," Chancellor Christopher C. Fordham III said, "and they indicate once again that the faculty at the University is comparable with the great Ivy League schools of the East and the great public universities of the Midwest and Far West."

In other studies, University programs in business administration, education, journalism, law, physical therapy and recreation administration have received high national rankings, and the schools of medicine, dentistry and nursing have received the most favorable accreditation reports.

Most recently, in a Change magazine survey of American graduate schools, Carolina received the 18th highest ranking overall among Ph.D.-granting institutions in the arts, sciences and engineering and was first in the Southeast. The University ranked first in the South in specific rankings for the humanities and for the social and behavioral sciences.

Carolina's academic excellence also remains affordable. Money magazine recently listed the University as one of the 10 best state schools nationally for getting an excellent education at an affordable price.

The research funds a university attracts are another measure of its prominence. During fiscal year 1982, University researchers received federal and other grants and contracts of $66,121,583, representing 19 percent of all Carolina income. In rankings of institutions receiving federal money for research and programs, Carolina has ranked consistently in the top 25 in the nation for the last decade.

Out of that research in the past year came major findings, including the link between salt intake, stress and high blood pressure; the unreliability of marijuana detection tests; the decline in the academic ability of public school teachers; and the characteristics of those most and least likely to pay their income taxes.

Scholarship in the humanities produced numerous significant publications, and a volume issued by the University of North Carolina Press won a Pulitzer Prize last year.

The faculty also has been cited for quality by the number of its members inducted into prestigious societies, elected to national office in scholarly and professional organizations and honored by peers in other ways.

Carolina also can take pride in the quality of its 22,000 students. Average applicants from North Carolina ranked in the top 10 to 12 percent of their high school classes. The keen competition for out-of-state spots in the class of 1987 attests to the University's national reputation. In 1983 only 11 percent of the non-alumni, out-of-state applicants were admitted. On the average, successful out-of-state applicants were in the top 1 percent of their high school classes and had SAT scores of about 1360.

The University recruits bright, well-rounded students through its Morehead, Pogue, Johnston and other scholarship programs. Carolina ranks high among the colleges and universities producing Rhodes Scholars, and many of its Rhodes Scholars in recent years first came to the University as Morehead Scholars.

Not only is Carolina a school of national academic reputation, but its students also have won their share of academic titles. Carolina students were the 1982 national College Bowl champions, and in 1983, when no championship was held, they were among the teams reaching the final round. An undergraduate also won the top national prize in 1982 for interpretive speaking.

Students are provided the best possible atmosphere for learning, from a library system ranked first in the Southeast to an athletic program encompassing excellence in varsity sports and an opportunity for all to participate in intramural activities.

The New York Times guide's overall ranking, which included academics, social life and quality of life, placed Carolina on a level exceeded by only three other schools in the nation.

Students who leave Carolina take roles of prominence across the spectrum of life. Gov. James B. Hunt and 30 of his predecessors have been alumni, as have a president, a vice-president, an acting vice-president and numerous other high government officials.

The University ranks 13th nationally among state universities and land grant colleges in the number of alumni who are chief executives of the 500 largest U.S. corporations, and others are business and community leaders across the state and nation.

In all, more than 60 percent of the 127,000 living alumni of the University live in North Carolina.

Other notable alumni across the country include novelist Walker Percy, Academy Award-winning actress Louise Fletcher, actor Andy Griffith, Pulitzer Prize-winning cartoonist Jeff MacNelly and journalists Vermont Royster (former editor of the Wall Street Journal), Tom Wicker (N.Y. Times), Charles Kuralt (CBS news) and Roger Mudd (NBC news).

Increasingly important is the University's work directed toward assuring the continued excellence of its future students and alumni. Carolina has taken a leadership role nationally as a forerunner in working with public schools in academics, with more than a score of innovative programs underway.

Included among these is the Lyndhurst Fellowship Program, which provides support for talented students who intend to teach math, science and English. Other programs to improve the teaching of math and science have been conducted for several years by the faculty members in the School of Education and the College of Arts and Sciences.

Those efforts and others are in keeping with the character of the University at Chapel Hill, which Chancellor Fordham has described in the words "integrity, excellence, high performance, a commitment to public service and public well-being, and belief in a strong, progressive voice in the affairs of society."

A Town Touched by Stranger Magic

The late Jake Wade wrote this piece a good many years ago. Even today, it captures the spirit of Chapel Hill as well as anything we know. Mr. Wade was director of sports publicity at the University at the time of his death.

This is a town touched by strange magic and one to which its peoples, many of them a curious breed, hold a rare and somewhat inexplicable attachment. Our town has no rivers, no mountains, no seas, but in the spring it is beautiful and in all seasons it is both wonderful and sad, romantic in the spirit of the youth it harbors in the educational process of the great State University, which is the town's principal industry.

Chapel Hill, where bells wake you in the morning, regardless of whether you live in the Beta house, Cobb dormitory or on Laurel Hill Road, and where the bells keep ringing periodically the day long, with the chimes taking over in the majesty of twilight and on certain important occasions such as the big football games.

Not really a village any more, although its inhabitants, some living in the past, like to consider it as such . . . None of us will go so far as to say that it possesses the tranquility and serenity of the Twenties, when Thomas Wolfe, and Paul Green and LeGette Blythe and "Monk" McDonald and the Carmichaels found adventure, melancholy and beauty in their diverse pursuits on the old campus and the unexplored lands beyond . . . It is not as small, and not quite as nice, but almost, and there is a whole new world of knowledge to be discovered here with resources of mind and matter in abundance.

Chapel Hill, where the civic clubs do not sing, salute flags or wear badges, but unostentatiously and quietly engage in humanitarian projects as earnestly as their backslapping counterparts of the cities . . . Where its only commercial radio station taboos hillbilly tunes and plays sweet music and deathless great arias.

In Chapel Hill that man in dungarees, coming out of the post office, is just as apt to be a best-selling novelist as the town's leading plumber or the divorced author of profound treatises on the science of nuptial compatibility . . . Where shoe shines, on the most modest leather, cost you twenty cents per copy, with the same treatment from five to ten cents cheaper in a much larger town across the way, but there you are not waited on by one of the town's most popular citizens who contributes philosophy, sound sense and remarkably accurate football prognostications as a dividend to the dab of mundane polish.

People in our town go to church, pray, are kind and considerate, both the students and the townspeople, as in all towns . . . But where some of the ministers never wear hats, do wear sweaters, and sometimes drive the more modest editions of those little foreign make sports cars, but their democracy in manners is no compromise with the dignity of their souls, for our town is blessed with able and Godly preachers.

Chapel Hillians, like the folks in your town or city, play poker and bridge, but strangely, little or no gin rummy, and they play golf and handball . . . Chapel Hill, where the tiniest tots are able swimmers, and old men play an exciting brand of tennis . . . Where there are circles and cliques, as in all towns, for the socials, round tables and sports, but where those who travel together are frequently of oddly dissimilar tastes . . . A famous singer breaks bread often and attends games with a Kenan professor . . . A coach has tea regularly with a brilliant author . . . A university department head finds more wisdom, truth and beauty in the philosophy of a bistro keeper than in the ivory towers of his own intellectual level and prefers his company . . . But Chapel Hill is a town of neighbors who are bird watchers and who tend their flowers with loving care and talk over stone walls and drink their coffee or cocktails while talking oftenest about their children and grandchildren . . . That's Chapel Hill. God bless our town and its gentle way of life.

Coach Dick Crum looks on as All-America Defensive Tackle William Fuller pressures a quarterback.

Tailbacks Tyrone Anthony (left) and Ethan Horton (bottom) and tight end Arnold Franklin (below) played well in 1982 and even bigger things are expected this fall.

The center of attention here is strong safety Willie Harris, an all-conference selection last year with sure tackling as displayed at right.

As evidenced here, college football offers a little something for everyone. However, the main attraction will always be players like Ethan Horton (following page).

Kenan Stadium

Nestled among the tall pine trees near the center of the Carolina campus is Kenan Stadium, home of the Tar Heels.

It is here in this beautiful natural valley that Carolina teams have played their games for 55 years. This is where the action is — the color, the motion and the pageantry of Carolina football.

Kenan Stadium is generally referred to as one of the most beautiful football arenas in the country. Considering its majestic setting amid the Carolina pines, some say it is THE most beautiful. Little can actually be done to enhance its natural beauty. In fact, most of the work on the stadium has been directed toward keeping up the natural setting.

Two years ago INSIDE SPORTS rated Kenan Stadium one of the five best places in America to watch a college football game. For scenery, atmosphere and charm, it can't be surpassed.

William Rand Kenan, Jr. deserves the credit for making the stadium a part of the University. He was born in North Carolina in 1873 and was an 1894 Carolina graduate. The late Mr. Kenan, who died in 1966, was an international industrialist. He discovered carbide and made monumental progress in the field of chemistry.

The stadium was built as a memorial to his parents, William R. Kenan and Mary Hargrave Kenan. Construction began in November, 1926 and was completed in August of the following year. Total cost of the stadium and fieldhouse was $303,000.

In the first game played in the stadium, Carolina defeated Davidson, 27-0, on November 12, 1927.

Carolina's all-time record in Kenan is 170-102-14. The most points scored by the Tar Heels in Kenan came in the third game played there. Carolina toppled Wake Forest, 65-0, in the 1928 season opener.

As originally built, the stadium seated 24,000. However, in later years Mr. Kenan added portable stands and then an upper deck to the permanent stands, bringing capacity to 48,000. Work was done in the stadium five years ago to increase that to 49,500.

After the 1976 season, Kenan Fieldhouse underwent a massive renovation. The building was expanded to 30,000 square feet of dressing rooms, coaches' offices, weight-training quarters, lounges, meeting rooms and other facilities.

Besides giving the stadium to the University, Mr. Kenan also sponsored and financed the famous Kenan Professorships. He was awarded the honorary degree of LL.D. by his alma mater in 1944.

Capacity crowds have come to be expected in Kenan. In fact, it is likely that every ticket will be sold to Carolina's six home games this year before the season even opens. That has been the case in recent years.

Carolina's six home games this season are Memphis State, Miami of Ohio, William and Mary, Wake Forest, Clemson and Duke.

1982 Sun Bowl

North Carolina overcame a 10-3 halftime deficit, an injury to tailback Kelvin Bryant and severe weather conditions to stun seventh-ranked Texas, 26-10, in the 1982 Sun Bowl at El Paso.

Texas took advantage of two Tar Heel mistakes to take its halftime lead. However, after intermission Carolina used its kicking game, the running of Ethan Horton and a sensational defense to come from behind. The win was Carolina's fourth straight in bowl competition.

A key factor in this game was the weather. Temperature at kickoff time was 35 degrees with winds gusting up to 35 miles an hour. The wind chill factor was 12 degrees. In addition, snow fell through most of the game and the full force of a winter blizzard struck just as the game ended.

Those conditions ruined the passing attacks of both teams and put a premium on kicking and defense. Carolina excelled in both areas during the second half.

However, things certainly did not look good for the Tar Heels at halftime. Not only was Carolina trailing by seven points, but Bryant had sprained his ankle in the second quarter and would not return to action.

Texas had taken an early lead when Ronnie Mullins blocked a David Lowe punt in the first period and fell on it in the end zone for a touchdown. Raul Allegre's extra point put the Longhorns ahead, 7-0, with 3:43 to go.

Carolina got its only points of the opening half on its next possession. A 40-yard drive, aided by a roughing the kicker penalty and a 16-yard reverse by Earl Winfield, ended with Rob Rogers booting a 53-yard field goal. That kick, with 14:09 left in the half, equalled the longest field goal in Tar Heel history.

A Carolina fumble on its second possession after that gave the Longhorns excellent field position on the UNC 42. Eight plays later Texas had a first down at the Tar Heel five yard line. However, on first down, Willie Harris dropped Ervin Davis for a four-yard loss and the Longhorns had to eventually settle for a 24-yard field goal from Allegre.

Another goal line stand early in the third quarter gave the Tar Heels the momentum they needed to start their comeback. Starting from midfield after a punt, Texas drove to the shadow of the Carolina goal. On third-and-goal from the one, Davis was stopped by Harris for no gain. Then on fourth down, Greg Poole stormed into the Longhorn backfield to again halt Davis for no gain.

That play came with 9:36 left in the third period. The Tar Heel defense would hold the Longhorns to a net of minus 15 yards for the rest of the game and just one first down.

Offensively, Horton began to assert himself at tailback. With Bryant out and Tyrone Anthony nursing bruised ribs, Horton and fullback Eddie Colson did the majority of the running for Carolina in the second half. Horton had 27 carries for 119 yards, all after intermission.

Horton had 49 yards in a drive which started at the Tar Heel 18 with five minutes to go in the third quarter and ended at the Texas 30 with 14:51 left in the game. From there Rogers kicked a 47-yard field goal to narrow the lead to 10-6.

The Tar Heels then caught the Longhorns completely by surprise with an on-sides kick. Rogers recovered at the Texas 47. But, it appeared that play would do Carolina no good when the Tar Heels gained just seven yards in their next three plays. However, on fourth down, Carolina faked a punt and Micah Moon, lined up as a blocking back, picked up the needed first-down yardage.

Horton and Colson then got the Tar Heels to the six, but Carolina had to settle for a 24-yard Brooks Barwick field goal.

Texas could not move the ball on its next possession and a poor punt put Carolina back on offense at the Longhorn 42. Seven plays later Barwick put the Tar Heels in front, 12-10, with a 42-yard field goal that just cleared the crossbar.

On second down after Carolina's kickoff, Chris Ward intercepted a Todd Dodge pass at the Longhorn 30. It took the Tar Heels seven plays to get their first touchdown of the day — a three-yard run by Horton. Barwick added the PAT. Key plays in that short drive were nine-yard runs by quarterback Scott Stankavage and Horton.

Ethan Horton (12), Scott Stankavage (14) and Brooks Barwick (4) celebrate Carolina's go-ahead field goal in the Sun Bowl.

Carolina added an insurance TD on the following Texas series. Trying to pass from his own 22 on fourth down, Dodge was blasted by Moon, who was blitzing from his linebacker position. The Texas quarterback went one way and the football went the other. Mike Wilcher fell on it in the end zone for a touchdown.

Horton was selected the game's most valuable player by media in attendance. CBS, which televised the game nationwide, selected tri-MVPs — Horton, Rogers and Barwick. Horton and Bryant had been co-MVPs in the 1981 Gator Bowl against Arkansas.

Defensively, Carolina got outstanding play from Ward, Harris, Poole, linebacker Bill Sheppard and cornerback Walter Black.

Despite the adverse weather conditions, the Christmas Day game drew 31,359 fans.

The Outlook

A new era in South Carolina football begins this fall as Joe Morrison starts his first season as coach of the Gamecocks. With 45 returning lettermen, Morrison's initial team should be improved over last fall's 4-7 squad. Among the top returning players for the Gamecocks are runningbacks Thomas Dendy and Todd Berry, offensive guard Cas Danielowski, linebacker J.D. Fuller, middle guard Rickey Hagood and place-kicker Mark Fleetwood. Dendy had a fine freshman season last fall, averaging 6.1 yards per carry and rushing for 848 yards. Fuller and the 285-pound Hagood were the second and third-leading South Carolina tacklers last year. Fleetwood made 17 of 18 field goals, including a 58-yarder against Georgia.

The Outlook

Plagued by injuries during the 1982 season, the Memphis State Tigers prepare for the '83 campaign with hopes of remaining healthy and turning around a string of five straight losing seasons. Led by record-setting junior quarterback Trell Hooper, the offense should be a good one if some young runningbacks develop. The offensive line has experience and depth and could be the team's strongest area. Derrick Crawford gives Hooper an excellent target at wide receiver. Defensively, the Tigers boast an experienced unit that returns eight starters from 1982. Sophomores Tim Harris, Mike MacKay, Eric Fairs and Enis Jackson anchor a defensive squad that came on strong at the end of the 1982 season.

The Outlook

A new football coach and two of the most exciting players in Miami University history await Redskin fans in 1983. Tim Rose, Miami's defensive coordinator for the past five years is the new coach, replacing Tom Reed who took the N.C. State head job. His top two players figure to be tailback Jay Peterson and middle guard Brian Pillman, unanimous All-MAC choices last year. Peterson rushed for 1,157 yards and scored eight touchdowns, while Pillman had 72 tackles and 33 assists, including 25 tackles for losses of 119 yards. Peterson heads up an experienced backfield, although help is needed along the offensive line. The defense should be a typically rugged Redskin unit with eight starters returning.

The Outlook

William and Mary should again have a potent offense, but needs to make improvement on defense as the Indians head into the new season. A sophomore-dominated team last year, the Indians have plenty of experience on offense. Running the attack will be junior quarterback Stan Yagiello, who passed for 1,841 yards last fall. His favorite target should again be split end Jeff Sanders who had 57 catches in 1982. The offensive line returns intact. In fact, flanker Kurt Wrigley is the only missing starter from last year. Defensively, the Tribe is switching from the wide-tackle six to a 4-3 front. Coach Jimmie Laycock feels he has the personnel to play this system well once some players adjust to position changes.

The Outlook

Georgia Tech Coach Bill Curry begins his fourth season in Atlanta with his strongest team to date, but faces a difficult schedule. Offensively, Tech should again be potent, provided replacements can be found for NFL draftees David Lutz and Ellis Gardner at tackle and reliable guard Ken Howell. Tech returns Robert Lavette, one of the finest runners in the nation. He gained 1,208 yards and scored 19 touchdowns as a sophomore last fall. Ronny Cone is back at fullback and senior lefthander Stu Rogers claimed the starting quarterback job in spring drills. Defensively, the Jackets should show the most improvement with linebackers Rob Horton, Pat Swilling, Dante Jones and Ted Roof leading the way. Jack Westbrook and Mike Travis add experience in the secondary and 6-5, 276-pound Bobby Hodge anchors the defensive line.

The Outlook

Wake Forest Coach Al Groh returns for his third season with another potent offensive attack, but it will be the play of the Deacon defense that will determine the success of the 1983 squad. Offensively, the Deacons will be led by quarterback Gary Schofield, who threw for 2,380 yards last fall; tailback Michael Ramseur, last season's ACC Rookie of the Year; and All-ACC wide receiver Tim Ryan. Guard Danny Martin anchors an experienced offensive line. On defense, the Deacs will rely on big plays from linebacker Malcolm Hairston, strong safety Danny Rocco and cornerback Ronnie Burgess. The defensive line is a year older and should be improved, as should the secondary. A replacement will have to be found for place-kicker Phil Denfeld, but punter Harry Newsome returns after earning All-ACC honors last season.

The Outlook

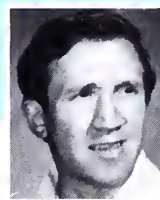

N.C. State's new head coach Tom Reed is approaching the 1983 season with cautious optimism. The Wolfpack returns 47 lettermen, including 12 starters from last year's 6-5 team. There are a number of standout performers on hand, but inexperience at the quarterback position. Top players on offense figure to be tailback Joe McIntosh, fullback Vince Evans and linemen Greg Steele and Joe Milinichik. Although three starters are missing from the secondary, State should be stronger defensively this year. Linebackers Andy Hendel and Vaughan Johnson head up that unit. There is experience and depth along the defensive front and the secondary, although young, has fine talent. The kicking game is another strength with the return of place-kicker Mike Cofer and punter Marty Martinussen.

The Outlook

Bobby Ross heads into his second season at Maryland with the personnel to once again have an outstanding team. Last year the Terps were 8-4, losing to Washington in the Aloha Bowl. Seven starters return off an offensive unit which finished eighth in the nation in scoring. That group is led by quarter-back Boomer Esiason, who threw for 2,302 yards and 18 touchdowns last fall. Other key offensive performers for the Terps are runningback Willie Joyner, who ran for 1,039 yards a year ago; wide receiver Greg Hill, who had seven TD catches; and place-kicker Jess Atkinson, the team's leading scorer with 16 field goals and 39 PATs. Only three starters return on defense, but 22 other players earned letters there and should be ready to step into starting jobs.

The Outlook

Despite the loss of 13 starters from a year ago, Clemson should again have an outstanding football team in 1983. The Tiger defense figures to be especially rugged with the return of 19 lettermen from a unit which was 10th nationally in rushing defense last fall. The defensive interior is deep and talented and there are three starters back in the secondary. There is inexperience at linebacker, but Coach Danny Ford feels he has players with good ability to handle those positions. Major questions on offense are in the backfield. Gone are the top two tailbacks from last season, Cliff Austin and Chuck McSwain. Five players are in the running for the starting job there. Kevin Mack will start at fullback, but the quarterback race between Mike Eppley and Anthony Parete won't be decided until the fall. A bright spot is the kicking game with all starters back.

The Outlook

Virginia returns eight starters on offense and eight on defense from last season's final depth chart. In all, 36 lettermen return and Coach George Welsh hopes to see a vastly improved defense because of the added experience. The Cavaliers moved the ball well at times last year and have the potential to be an even better offensive team this fall. So, if the defense is improved, Virginia could be a surprising team. General team strengths are the offensive backfield, the wide receivers and the defensive secondary. The Cavaliers play a favorable schedule with the first three games at home. A key to Virginia's success will be the Wahoos' play in close games. Five of UVA's losses last year came by a touchdown or less.

The Outlook

Duke returns 52 lettermen and 14 starters from a team that finished 6-5 in 1982, thus achieving the school's first back-to-back winning seasons since 1970-71. Heading the list of returning players is All-ACC quarterback Ben Bennett who passed for 3,033 yards and 20 touchdowns last fall. Bennett will operate behind a line anchored by center Philip Ebinger. Since guard Ted Million is the only other returning regular up front, much of new coach Steve Sloan's spring was spent rebuilding the offensive interior. Bennett's favorite receiver should be Mark Militello, who led the ACC in receptions last year with 52. Defensively, the Blue Devils return seven starters, including linebacker Ralph Alderman, their leading tackler in 1982. Other top defenders should be cornerback Johnny Hill and tackle Bill Smith.

The Educational Foundation

One of the most important organizations in the Carolina Athletic Department is the University's Educational Foundation.

It is the Educational Foundation which makes possible all athletic scholarships awarded by Carolina.

As the Tar Heels' sports program has grown through the years, the Foundation has done likewise. It currently has over 6,200 members who finance a scholarship program that costs $1,500,000 a year.

"Since its inauguration in 1938, the Foundation has provided scholarships, either partial or full, for over 3,000 student-athletes," says Ernie Williamson, the Foundation's executive vice-president.

Williamson feels the overall bonus of being a Foundation member is helping a worthy young student obtain a college education. He says the high caliber young athlete who is awarded a scholarship is a great representative of the University.

Any donation to the Foundation is welcome. However, membership in the Rams Club is restricted to those who contribute $150 or more.

Carolina was one of the first schools in the nation to set up an endowment program for athletics. This program was started in 1968 and has already surpassed the $7,000,000 mark.

The endowment program consists of $50,000 endowed scholarships, life memberships of $15,000 and $30,000, wills and bequests and a new dimension — a pooled income fund. Under the pooled income plan, a member gives a principal sum to the Foundation and then receives the interest off that during the remainder of his life.

A special room on the south wing of Kenan Fieldhouse serves as a meeting place for Rams and their families. This area is open two hours before football games and provides a lounge and picnic area for those who come early.

The Foundation operates on a dignified and realistic plane in compliance with all of the regulations of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Other members of the Foundation staff are Moyer Smith, John Cherry and Neal Harrell. Along with Williamson, Mary Baggett, Kaye Koenig, Jean Gunter and Terri Bare, they have made the Foundation better able to serve its members.

"We couldn't have the type program we do without the Educational Foundation," says Athletic Director John Swofford. "We've enlarged our staff in the last two years and I think the staff additions we have made will enable us to do a better job for our members."

The man who stands at the helm of the Educational Foundation is popular Ernie Williamson, the executive vice-president.

The former star Carolina tackle is one of the most active individuals on the Tar Heel sports scene. He is constantly on the go — talking with Foundation members, speaking to prospective members or avidly following all of Carolina's athletic teams.

Williamson is a Carolina graduate with A.B. and M.A. degrees. The native of Crewe, Va. played one season of football here under Carl Snively and was regarded as an outstanding tackle. He was lured away to professional football and played with New York and Washington before a knee injury ended his career.

Williamson returned to Chapel Hill to finish work on his degrees and then went to the University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn. He was an assistant coach there for two years and head coach for three seasons.

He returned to Carolina in 1957 to accept his present position. At one time he also served as a recruiter for the football program.

Williamson is highly respected in his field. He has served three terms as president of the National Association of Athletic Fund-Raisers.

Ernie is married to the former Elva Smith of Lawrenceville, Va. They have a son, Wayne, and a daughter, Carole.

The First Forward Pass

While it is foolish to state emphatically that the first forward pass was thrown by a North Carolina football team, certain records would indicate as much. No less an authority than John Heisman himself credits the Tar Heels with the game's first pass.

The scene was Atlanta on October 26, 1895. Carolina and Georgia were locked in a scoreless struggle in the game's closing moments. The Tar Heels were in a punting situation deep in their own territory. Here is an account of what then happened as reported by Heisman in a 1928 edition of Collier's Weekly:

"The North Carolina fullback retreated until the crossbar of his goal was above his head and from the Georgia stands came the exhortation to 'block it, block it, block it.'"

"And Georgia's forwards, gathering all their waning strength and riding over North Carolina's tired defense, might have blocked it and even scored, had the sturdy boy from North Carolina kicked.

"But instead of punting into the leaping bodies of those onrushing Georgians, he ran a few mincing steps to the right. Raising the ball to his shoulder he tossed it.

"Luck was with the boy. The ball was caught by a North Carolinian. Now as we know forward passes, it wasn't much. It traveled a few yards and laterally as well as forward. It may have appeared to the spectators that it had been knocked from that fullback's hands.

"At any rate the lad who caught it ran 70 yards for a touchdown!"

"I had seen the first forward pass in college football. It was illegal, of course. Already Pop Warner, the Georgia coach, was storming at the referee. But the referee had not seen the North Carolina lad, goaded to desperation, toss the ball. A touchdown had been made and a touchdown it remained."

Other accounts of the game do not mention the forward pass. However, George Stephens is credited with a 70-yard touchdown run in the game.

At any rate, Heisman wrote that he immediately saw the possibilities that the forward pass had. He personally wrote Walter Camp about the play.

The forward pass was discussed for several years. It became a part of the rules at Camp's suggestion in 1906.

Certainly, the idea of the pass had to come from something. It may well have been Carolina's strange play in 1895.

Carolina Linebackers

Lawrence Taylor

Buddy Curry

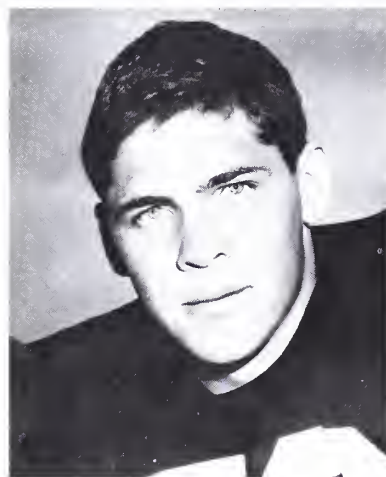

John Bunting

Chris Hanburger

Bill Koman

Rip Hawkins

The rookie who has made the biggest impact on the National Football League in the last two years is unquestionably Lawrence Taylor, the sensational linebacker of the New York Giants.

Rarely has a defensive newcomer achieved what Taylor has in his first two years in the NFL. But rarely has a rookie entered the professional ranks with the ability of Taylor.

Of course, Taylor's initial success with the Giants has come as no surprise to those who followed his great career at the University of North Carolina.

And the fact Taylor played at Carolina was no surprise to NFL fans. The Tar Heels have been turning out star linebackers for years.

The biggest star of them all may well be Taylor. Not only was he chosen the league's defensive rookie of the year in 1981 by everyone who makes such a selection, but he was also named NFL Defensive Player of the Year by the Associated Press. He received more votes than any other NFC player in balloting for the Pro Bowl.

The second player chosen in the 1981 college draft, Taylor has helped turn around the Giant franchise. New York, which had only a 4-12 record in 1980, improved to 9-7 in Taylor's first season there. The Giants made the playoffs for the first time since 1963.

The major reason for that improvement was an outstanding defense featuring Taylor. The New York offense wasn't great by any means, but the defense was good enough to offset that.

New York's media, regarded by some as skeptical and cynical, treated Taylor almost reverently. That's the type of season he had.

He then proved that initial year was no fluke by being named Defensive Player of the Year again last season.

Taylor had had similar success at Carolina. He was a consensus All-America and the Atlantic Coast Conference Player of the Year in his senior season.

However, as mentioned earlier, Taylor was not the first Tar Heel linebacker to reach stardom in the NFL. Three years ago the best rookie linebacker in the league was Buddy Curry of the Atlanta Falcons.

Two former Tar Heel linebackers helped their teams reach the Super Bowl during the 1970's. Chris Hanburger sparked a Redskin defense which took Washington to Super Bowl VII. John Bunting was a key performer for the Philadelphia Eagles when they reached Super Bowl XV.

Hanburger is one of four former Tar Heel linebackers who have played in the Pro Bowl in the last 20 years. The others are Taylor, Bill Koman of the St. Louis Cardinals and Rip Hawkins of the Minnesota Vikings.

Taylor, Hawkins, Hanburger and Curry were all two-time All-ACC selections during their college days. Jimmy DeRatt, a linebacker at Carolina in the early 1970's, also was a two-time all-conference choice.

Other Tar Heel linebackers who have made the All-ACC team since 1970 are Bunting, Bill Richardson, Mike Mansfield, Darrell Nicholson, Lee Shaffer, Chris Ward and Mike Wilcher.

Wilcher was chosen in the second round of the NFL draft last spring by the Los Angeles Rams. He joins seven other Carolina linebackers still active in professional football — Taylor, Curry, Bunting, Calvin Daniels of the Kansas City Chiefs, Paul Davis of the Atlanta Falcons, Shelton Robinson of the Seattle Seahawks and Dave Simmons of the Baltimore Colts.

Carolina's 1,000-Yard Rushers

Carolina and Southern California have each produced fourteen 1,000-yard rushers. That's more than anyone else in college football history.

The Tar Heels have had twelve 1,000-yard rushers in the past 10 years alone. That's the most of any school in the country in that period.

Sammy Johnson started that streak by reaching the magic figure in 1973. James Betterton and Mike Voight hit 1,000 in 1974; Voight did it again in 1975 and 1976; Amos Lawrence accomplished the same feat in 1977, 1978, 1979 and 1980; and Kelvin Bryant got 1,000 in 1980, 1981 and 1982.

Twice, 1974 and 1980, Carolina has had two players get 1,000 in the same season. That has happened only 12 other times in collegiate history. Only at Carolina have the players shared the same position, Betterton and Voight in '74 and Lawrence and Bryant in '80.

Lawrence and Tony Dorsett are the only major college players to rush for 1,000 yards four times. Lawrence's career total of 4,391 yards is a school record. At the end of his senior season he was the ninth-leading rusher in collegiate history.

Don McCauley set the Tar Heels' all-time single-season rushing record in 1970. He ran for 1,720 yards that year, breaking O.J. Simpson's NCAA single-season record.

Choo Choo

The Incomparable Charlie Justice

There is an understandable tendency by sports fans to be wary when an athlete is called "the absolute greatest ever" or "the best who ever played."

It is so difficult to compare athletes of the past with those of today that such descriptions are generally regarded as exaggerations of overzealous publicists.

Even with that in mind, however, it is undeniably safe to say that the greatest all-around football player ever to wear Carolina Blue was Charlie "Choo Choo" Justice.

Some have even said Charlie Justice was the best all-around player in the history of the South. We won't go that far even though there's a good chance it's true. We don't want to make our readers too wary.

Charlie Justice was more than just a great football player. He was a bonafide superstar . . . a hero . . . a legend in his own time. He had an impact on his home state as no other athlete had ever had before or few have had since.

During his four years in Chapel Hill, from 1946 to 1949, Justice helped guide the Tar Heels to three major bowl games. For one week during the 1948 season Carolina was ranked as the nation's number one college football team. The Tar Heels ended that year rated third, the best finish in school history.

It is no wonder then he was held in great esteem by everyone in the state. Certainly, the time was right for a hero like Charlie Justice. The war had just ended and people wanted to turn their attention to more pleasant things. They wanted someone to make them forget the trauma they had just suffered. So they looked for heroes and they found Charlie Justice.

In his book, They Made The Bell Tower Chime, Bob Quincy summed up Charlie Justice's college career quite succinctly. With the author's permission, an excerpt is repeated here:

The Justice Era of 1946-49 was the most exciting in Carolina's football history. Charlie was the ringleader of a circus of thrills. He set the pace, but his backing was superb. Carl Snavely had so many football players he couldn't have named them all had he taken a memory course. The Tar Heels operated from the single wing with the kind of variations that at times resembled the Harlem Globetrotters' pre-game ball-handling act. The four seasons netted 32 victories, seven losses and two deadlocks. Plus three major bowl appearances.

The 170-pound Justice was one of the nation's most sought-after players when he enrolled at Carolina. Some called him the hottest property in the history of football at that time. He had been a standout at Asheville's Lee Edwards High, leading the Maroons to two unbeaten seasons. He was All-Southern two years at Asheville, and as a member of the Shrine Bowl football team in 1942 he scored three touchdowns against South Carolina, a record that still stands.

The Navy became home for Charlie during the war years, and he became a phantom on a pro-studded Bainbridge Navy squad. After two years of romping for Bainbridge against opponents across the country, he was a target for pro offers from the Philadelphia Eagles and Washington.

Charlie wanted an education, and scouts stayed in pursuit. He chose Chapel Hill after seriously considering South Carolina and Duke. An off-hand remark by Snavely — "I hope he comes out for football" — became a classic understatement.

Justice was all his press clippings indicated — and more.

Smart! Example: In the Virginia Tech opener, Justice had two kicks blocked. He bristled and vowed it would never happen again. It didn't during his collegiate career.

After Virginia Tech's 14-14 stalemate, a shocker to say the least, the Tar Heels played at Miami. Early in the game, Justice went back to punt. The Hurricane came hard with an all-out rush to block him. He faked the kick and ripped off a 65-yard touchdown run.

In the Virginia game his freshman year he gained 170 yards in 17 carries with runs of 18, 40 and 56 yards. He had seen little practice because of a leg injury, but the Cavaliers were certain he carried a spare appendage.

Choo Choo (he acquired the name at Bainbridge when a gob remarked, "He runs along just like a choo choo train,") was excitement. He was all eagerness on the sidelines and all business when he moved into the tailback slot. He thrived on duty, and he was a master of the quick kick, a devastating rusher, a good passer, and a fake artist who could charm a cobra.

Jack Fitch, a thick-legged back who occasionally shared duty with Justice when not playing the wing, sized up Charlie's style by noting, "Justice has the ability to be running at full speed, stop suddenly, and then be back at full speed almost instantly. He was never regarded as fast in terms of a track man. He had a change of pace that couldn't be matched, and he knew how to follow blockers as well as any back I've ever watched."

Justice was blessed by having excellent blocking backs in front of him (Joe Wright, Don Hartig, Eddie Knox, Paul Rizzo, Bobby Weant) and two fullbacks in Hosea Rodgers and Walt Pupa who could pass as well as run. Pupa had been a tailback in pre-war years.

The Snavelly system called for a spinning fullback, fakes and counter fakes, fullback pass plays and reverses. It was a dashing brand of football made more exciting by men who had the ability and maturity to accept Snavelly's often complicated maneuvers.

A book, "Choo Choo," documents the career of Charlie Justice. He was a folk hero and deserved the special treatment. The great Benny Goodman and the late Johnny Long recorded the Campbell-Beebe song, "All the Way Choo Choo." It sold by the thousands.

Typical of Justice was the Georgia game of 1948. He scored three times against the Bulldogs in a 21-14 triumph, the climax being an 84-yard punt return. At mid-way point that season, the Tar Heels were ranked No. 1 in the nation.

Justice erased more records than a company of auditors during his four years at UNC. He scored 234 points and passed or ran for 64 touchdowns. As a ball carrier he accumulated 2,634 yards.

His total offense record is still in the books at 4,883 yards. His punting average for four years was 42.6 yards per kick for 231 boots. Justice also was a dependable defensive player, going both ways on occasion for the Tar Heels and also as a Redskin.

Justice seemed to peak when the traditional games were being played. He led the Tar Heels to four straight wins over Duke. He was an All-America mention as a freshman and made many of the major teams as a junior and as a senior. He was runner-up for the Heisman Trophy to Doak Walker of SMU in 1949.

Charlie's finest moment came in the College All-Star Game of 1950 at Chicago's Soldier Field. He was voted the MVP of the game for good reason. The All-Stars walloped the Philadelphia Eagles, led by Steve Van Buren, 17-7. Justice gained 133 yards individually, or 48 more than the Eagles posted as a team. He set up a touchdown on a 60-yard pass from Eddie LeBaron of College of the Pacific.

Every year since Charlie's departure from Chapel Hill, someone has a "find" who is labled as "the next Charlie Justice." No player has yet come up to Choo Choo's standards. Good runners, yes! Expert passers, yes! Booming punters, yes! But for endurance, ability to dazzle the crowd and overall quality, there was only one Charlie Justice.

Carolina's Bowl History

North Carolina has played in 14 post-season bowl games, including 10 in the last 13 years.

No other Atlantic Coast Conference team has been to as many bowls in this recent stretch as Carolina. In fact, the only schools in America which have played in more bowls in this period are Alabama (13), Nebraska (13), Ohio State (12), Penn State (12), Texas (12) and Oklahoma (11). Carolina is seventh with its 10 appearances followed by Georgia, Michigan, Pittsburgh and Southern California with nine each.

The Tar Heels have also played well on their most recent bowl trips. Carolina has now won four bowls in a row, tying Penn State for the current lead in consecutive bowl victories.

Carolina's post-season trips have been to the Sugar Bowl in 1947 and 1949; the Cotton Bowl in 1950; the Peach Bowl in 1970 and 1976; the Sun Bowl in 1972, 1974 and 1982; the Liberty Bowl in 1977; the Bluebonnet Bowl in 1980; and the Gator Bowl in 1963, 1971, 1979 and 1981.

The Tar Heels' bowl history started in the late Forties when Charlie "Choo Choo" Justice was running wild from the single wing. Carolina went to bowl games three times during the Justice Era, but lost all three.

Perhaps the most famous of those games was the 1947 Sugar Bowl which matched Carolina against Georgia. The game produced one of the most controversial plays in bowl history. Carolina was leading 7-0 in the third period when Bulldog defensive end Joe Tereshinski intercepted a Tar Heel pass. He then flipped a lateral to Dick McPhee who raced to the Carolina 14.

The Tar Heels argued the lateral was a forward one and the play should have been called back. However, the officials ruled differently. Georgia went on to score and eventually won the game, 20-10.

Carolina returned to the Sugar Bowl two years later and lost to Oklahoma, 14-6. Justice had a great day for the Tar Heels, clicking off runs of 10, 13, 25, 11 and 14 yards. He punted four times for 65, 65, 57, and 53 yards.

Justice had another great day in the 1950 Cotton Bowl, but Carolina lost to Rice, 27-13.

The Tar Heels' next bowl appearance came in the 1963 Gator Bowl where Carolina walloped the Air Force, 35-0. Ken Willard was the big star that day. He ran for 94 yards on 18 carries and scored the first touchdown which keyed the runaway victory.

In the 1970 Peach Bowl the Tar Heels dropped a wild 48-26 decision to unbeaten Arizona State. All-America tailback Don McCauley had 143 yards rushing and three touchdowns for Carolina. But a second-half snowstorm and an injury to quarterback Paul Miller helped the Sun Devils race to victory.

The 1971 Gator Bowl produced a bowl first — brothers opposing each other as coaches in bowl competition. It matched Vince Dooley of Georgia against Bill of Carolina. The game was a great defensive struggle in which the Bulldogs came from behind to win, 7-3.

Carolina capped an 11-1 season in the 1972 Sun Bowl by defeating Texas Tech, 32-28. Quarterback Nick Vidnovic was the big star, completing 14 of 26 passes for 215 yards. He fired a 62-yard scoring strike to Ted Leverenz to help the Tar Heels to a 24-21 halftime lead.

Tech came back to go ahead, 28-24, but Vidnovic hit Leverenz with a 13-yard TD pass with just a minute to play to bring Carolina back. The Tar Heels then added two more points when Ronnie Robinson dropped Raider quarterback Joe Barnes for a safety.

Mike Voight and James Betterson had big days rushing in the 1974 Sun Bowl, but Mississippi State won another thriller, 26-24. The Tar Heels put on a desperation drive in the game's closing moments, but were stopped on a fourth-and-one at their own 48-yard line.

Playing without the injured Voight, Carolina lost to Kentucky, 21-0, in the 1976 Peach Bowl. The Tar Heels had trouble all day with a tough Wildcat defense.

Carolina dropped a heartbreaking 21-17 decision to Nebraska in the 1977 Liberty Bowl. Sparked by quarterback Matt Kupec, the Tar Heels held a 17-7 lead going into the fourth period. However, the Cornhuskers rallied behind reserve quarterback Randy Garcia to score their come-from-behind victory.

Kupec and Amos Lawrence were the big stars in Carolina's 17-15 win over Michigan in the 1979 Gator Bowl. Kupec directed a 97-yard touchdown drive in the third quarter which put the Tar Heels ahead to stay (14-9). Jeff Hayes later added a 32-yard field goal. Michigan scored with 1:28 left to cut the lead to two, but a two-point pass failed.

Kupec completed 18 of 28 passes, while Lawrence ran for 118 yards. They were named co-MVPs.

Lawrence again was the big star in Carolina's 16-7 win over Texas in the 1980 Bluebonnet Bowl. He rushed for 104 yards and had a 59-yard touchdown run. Carolina's other scoring came on a short plunge by Kelvin Bryant and a field goal by Hayes. A key factor in this game was the Carolina defense which limited the Longhorns to just two first downs and only 36 yards of total offense in the second half. Lawrence topped Bryant in voting for the game's outstanding offensive player, while Steve Streater edged Lawrence Taylor in balloting for the defensive MVP.

Bryant and his backup, Ethan Horton, both had big nights as Carolina defeated Arkansas, 31-27, in the 1981 Gator Bowl. Bryant rushed for 148 yards and Horton added 144. They shared the MVP award.

Carolina had a 31-10 lead in the fourth period when the Razorbacks staged a late comeback. Arkansas rallied to within 31-27 and had the ball in Carolina territory late in the game. However, a third down sack by nose guard Ronnie Snipes helped the Tar Heels kill that threat.

Last December Carolina pushed its bowl record under Dick Crum to 4-0 with a 26-10 come-from-behind victory over Texas in the Sun Bowl. Horton, coming off the bench in the second half for an injured Bryant, again won MVP honors. He rushed for 119 yards, all in the second half, as the Tar Heels rallied from a 10-3 halftime deficit.

However, Horton was not the only Carolina star. The Tar Heel defense, which made two brilliant goal line stands, shut down the Texas attack in the second half. Rob Rogers and Brooks Barwick each kicked two field goals despite weather conditions which featured a wind chill factor of 12 degrees and snow throughout the game.
